Morrow County Offers $500 To Get Bombers

Commissioners Act Following Attack on Sheriff; Will Also Vote Hack Murder Case Reward.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, O., July 14—Morrow county commissioners yesterday afternoon offered a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the bombing early Sunday of the automobile of Sheriff Oscar George at Mt. Gilead. Prosecutor Nelson Campbell said commissioners had informed him they will offer a similar reward today in the murder of Mrs. Caroline Hack, aged widow, at her home near Cardington this spring.

He said investigators in both cases are virtually without clues and that no new developments have materialized.

The decision to offer the rewards was reached by commissioners yesterday afternoon following a conference with Mr. Campbell and the sheriff.

The bombing occurred at 2:30 a. m. Sunday and virtually demolished the sheriff's car and broke scores of windows in the county jail and two nearby houses.

Prosecutor Campbell said the sheriff has suspicions as to who might have done the bombing but is proceeding quietly. Although the sheriff yesterday said he believed the act was done by some one living out of the county, Mr. Campbell said it is possible a county resident might have done it.

The Morrow county commissioners are W. J. Fulton, A. A. Broiller and G. W. Turner.

Power Rate Cut To Benefit 1,350 Customers Here

Reduction for Commercial Users Will Be Effective Tomorrow in City.

Approximately 1,350 Marion commercial customers of the Marion-Reserve Power Co. will share in a reduction of rates which becomes effective tomorrow, Chester C. Roberts, president of the company, said today. The cuts are expected to save users approximately $17,000 a year.

The reduction, approved last month by the state utilities commission, was voluntarily made by the company in an attempt to increase the commercial lighting use in the city in line with the company's general policy of of encouraging larger consumption. It will first appear on the August bills.

It will bring to commercial customers a proportionate share in the savings given residential users in a reduction completed last January. The present reduction does not affect residential or industrial customers.

The new rates are: six cents a kilowatt hour for the first 50 hours each month; five cents an hour for the next 450; four cents an hour for the next 500; two and a half cents each for all exceeding 1,000 kilowatt hours.

The old rates are: six and a half cents each for the first 100 kilowatt hours each month; five cents each for the next 900; four cents each for the next 1,000; three cents each for all over 2,000 each month.

The minimum monthly bill is unchanged. It calls for $1 a month for the first two kilowatts of demand and 50 cents per kilowatt of demand exceeding two kilowatts, but not less than $1. The five per cent penalty on the bill for delaying payment more than 15 days after billing also remains effective.

WPA SEWING STAFF HERE ORDERED CUT

Employes To Be Reduced from 75 Women to 10; To Get Other Work.

An agreement to reduce the WPA sewing project here from 75 women to 10 and to transfer the other women to several other projects in the county was reached yesterday by local WPA officials and the board of Marion county commissioners.

The sewing project has been in operation here for about a year and a half and has provided clothing and other articles for persons on relief. Members of the board of commissioners said today the project is being curtailed because the sewing center's production has exceeded the amount of clothing needed for distribution.

Transfer of the 65 women from the sewing center to other projects will be effective next Monday, officials said. No new WPA projects will be necessary, they said, since the women will be placed on projects which previously have been approved. Decisions as to what projects will be used have not been made.

The 10 women remaining on the sewing projects will include a supervisor to direct the work.

Davey May Take Hand in Adjournment Controversy

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 14—Ohio senate leaders headed a special legislative session today toward a deadlock on adjournment which Gov. Martin L. Davey may have to break with his constitutional power to declare a disagreement.

Although the house, satisfied to adjourn and go home now that funds have been provided to support state activities for two years, voted to quit July 23, the senate buried the adjournment resolution in its rules committee in the hope that a recess could be obtained.

They based their course on a desire to have special investigating committees work during the summer, which they could not do under an adjournment.

Whether the governor would exercise his right to declare a disagreement between the house and senate, and adjourn the session until a fixed date, was problematical, but informed sources represented the executive as believing he would do that if July 23 passes without the senate having acted on the house data to quit.

Russian Airmen Land in Field Near Los Angeles

Leaking Gasoline Line Forces Soviet Fliers Down Short Distance from Goal After Setting New World Distance Record; Spend 62 Hours in Air.

By The Associated Press

SAN JACINTO, Calif., July 14—The Russian transpolar fliers landed here at 6:30 a. m. P. S. T. (9:30 a. m. Marion time) after a non-stop flight from Moscow which broke the world's long distance flight record.

The fliers came down safely in a pasture three miles west of here after 60 hours in the air.

The landing near this Riverside county mountain hamlet ended an epochal flight of more than 6,000 miles which began Sunday night in Moscow.

The gasoline tank was leaking a stream of fuel when the big mono-plane was brought down at a point 90 miles east of Los Angeles.

The airline distance from Moscow was computed roughly at 6,700 miles for the plane's slightly more than 62 hours in the air.

San Jacinto nestles in the eastern edge of the San Jacinto mountains, 20 miles from March field, which the fliers evidently were attempting to make.

From March field, the army headquarters of the first wing G. H. Q. air force, officers were immediately dispatched to the scene.

The three Soviet fliers—Pilot Mikhail Gromoff, Co-pilot Andrei Yumosheff and Navigator Sergei Danilin—were unable to speak English to the mountain residents who flocked to the scene but later a guard of local authorities was established about the plane.

The second transpolar flying expedition far exceeded the distance of the first which came down at Vancouver, Wash. June 20 after a hop of 5,288 miles.

Major Victor H. Stahn of the army flew here from March field, greeted the fliers and took them aboard his own plane toward the army base.

Several ranchers saw the big red monoplane come to ground gracefully. They immediately telephoned to town.

Army officers indicated that the Russian's leaky gasoline tank caused the forced landing.

Some time earlier Soviet Consul General Grigori Gokhman had taken off in a chartered plane seeking to locate his three countrymen and lead them to a landing.

He landed at Bakersfield, in South California, without sighting them.

The United States army signal corps station at Seattle reported the Soviet airmen passed over Oakland at 4 a. m. (Marion time). The majority of the hundreds of watchers at the airport, including National Aeronautics association officials, neither saw nor heard the plane over Oakland. N. A. A. offi-

START CHICAGO RIOT INQUIRY

Coroner Summons 100 to Inquest Into Deaths of 10 in Strike Battle.

INDIANA PLANTS OPEN

City Investigation Planned at Massillon Where Two Were Killed.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 14 — Coroner Frank J. Walsh summoned more than 100 witnesses for an inquest today into the deaths of 10 persons in Chicago's Memorial day steel strike battle.

The inquiry into the bloodiest phase of the labor dispute that affected workers in seven states came a day after the last of the major strike bound plants resumed operations.

A six-man coroner's jury had the task of determining whether any one should be held criminally responsible for the fatalities which followed a clash between 200 policemen and some 1,500 strike demonstrators near the Republic Steel corporation's South Chicago plant.

Chief Deputy Coroner James J. Whalen said the possible verdicts were justifiable homicide, manslaughter, and murder.

Plants Reopened

Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. plants at Indiana Harbor, Ind., reopened yesterday without incident. Officials said normal production was expected by the end of the week.

Meanwhile, the national labor relations board continued a hearing of charges that Inland Steel Corp. violated the Wagner labor act. William Malhofer, a SWOC organizer, testified he was told by James H. Walsh, works manager of the company's Indiana Harbor plant, that the firm would not sign a contract with the CIO "even if an election shows a majority of employes belong to the union."

The American Federation of Labor challenged the CIO position in the Chicago Steel area today by issuing the first charter of its new international—the American Federation of Steel Workers.

William Schoenberg, personal representative of William Green, AFL president, said the charter was issued to workers at the Carnegie-Illinois Corp., and that the unit's membership approximated 4,000.

Plans Massillon Inquiry

At Massillon, O., Mayor Henry Krier announced the city would make an official investigation into the strike clash in which two men were shot and killed and 15 were injured Sunday night.

GAREY'S CONDITION IS REPORTED GOOD

The condition of Walden W. Garey, 32, of 660 Lee street, who suffered a bullet wound through his body when he attempted to evade officers who sought to arrest him early Tuesday morning on a charge of non-support, was reported as "good" this morning by hospital attendants.

The shot that wounded Garey was fired by Captain Ora DeWees, who with Patrolman Henry Tong, had chased Garey from his home on Lee street to the region of Blake's greenhouse on West Fairground street, in their effort to place him under arrest. The non-support charge against Garey had been filed by his wife, Mrs. Ida Mae Garey of 820 Silver street, who alleged that he had not contributed to the support of three minor children since Nov. 1, 1936.

INVESTIGATION ASKED

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 14—State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson asked Governor Davey today to authorize a special grand jury investigation of "apparent irregularities" in Lawrence county school, relief and general revenue funds and "vote buying with relief funds."

Fliers Say They Could Have Reached Mexico

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 14 — The Russian fliers who landed at San Jacinto, Calif., today after a flight from Moscow told Constantine Oumansky, charge d'affaires of the Soviet embassy, by long distance phone they landed where they did so as to end their flight on United States soil.

Otherwise, they said they would have landed in Mexico.

"The fliers," Oumansky asserted, "were extremely elated at having broken the non-stop long distance straight line record and the non-stop long distance broken line record.

"They said they had an extremely good trip and had run into their worst weather over San Diego. The weather was so overcast there the fliers couldn't find a spot to land and so turned inland to San Jacinto."

They spent two hours over San Diego, Oumansky added.

He said the fliers assured him the plane had functioned perfectly and was in perfect shape.

"They told me," he said, "that the only reason they landed was because if they had gone any further they would have left the limits of the United States and landed in Mexico."

Oumansky said he had told the fliers to go to bed and have a well needed rest but they had assured him they felt fine, were enjoying meeting the many people who flocked around their plane, were signing autographs in profusion and were being extremely well taken care of by the United States army personnel.

DEATH HUSHES BITTER DEBATE ON COURT BILL

Washington Silent on Possible Effect of Robinson Death on Issue.

WAS DIRECTING DRIVE

Speculation Arises That Roosevelt Might Withdraw Legislative Demands.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 14 — The sudden death of Democratic leader Robinson upset today the administration drive to enact a substitute for the Roosevelt court bill.

The Arkansas senator not only was directing the drive to push the compromise measure through the senate but was the principal author of the substitute. He had been given a free hand by President Roosevelt to negotiate a bill the senate would pass.

The immediate effect of Robinson's death was to interrupt the furious debate which has been proceeding in the senate for more than a week. What the ultimate effect might be, no one was willing to forecast immediately.

Senator Wheeler, Democrat of Montana, after expressing regret at the "untimely passing" of "a politician and personal friend" predicted the court controversy might be terminated speedily as a result of the leader's death.

Makes Biblical Plea

"I beseech the President to drop this court fight lest he appear to fight against God."

The last part of the remark of the opposition leader to the court reorganization bill was a quotation from the Old Testament.

"If it had not been for this court fight," Wheeler continued, "Joe Robinson would be alive today."

There were others in the senate who could step into the leadership in Robinson's place, but there were few who had the personal following and could muster the loyal support of the Democratic membership of the senate to quite the same extent.

Even under Robinson's leadership the line-up was so close that enactment of the compromise measure was definitely endangered at the time he died.

Even friends of the measure only claimed a margin of two or three votes over the required majority.

Speculation arose in some quarters that President Roosevelt might withdraw his demand for the legislation and content himself, perhaps, with a constitutional amendment for compulsory retirement of judges.

Robinson's death came within a few hours of another major blow to the court bill—a vigorous declaration of opposition from Representative Sumners, Democrat of Texas, chairman of the powerful house judiciary committee.

Sumner's Surprises House

Sumners, veteran chairman of the house judiciary committee, surprised his colleagues late yesterday by an impassioned plea that the senate abandon "what I think is an unnecessary piece of legislation."

There will be additional retire-

PRESIDENT TO ATTEND RITES FOR SENATOR

Chief Executive Shocked at News; Writes Note to Mrs. Robinson.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 14 — President Roosevelt, deeply shocked at the sudden death of Senator Joseph T. Robinson, made tentative plans today to attend funeral services for the senate leader in Washington.

White House aides said he would not be able to go to Little Rock, Ark., for the burial because of official business. He will be represented there, it was said, by Vice President Garner, who will go to Little Rock from his home at Uvalde, Tex., where he is now vacationing.

The chief executive was informed by telephone of his friend's death by Stephen T. Early, a White House secretary.

As soon as he had risen, the chief executive sent a telegram of condolences to the governor of Arkansas and then wrote a personal note of sympathy in long hand to Mrs. Robinson.

Subject to Mrs. Robinson's wishes, it was said, plans were being made to conduct funeral services in the senate chamber, after which the body will be borne to Little Rock for burial.

If services are held here as tentatively planned, the White House said the President and his cabinet would attend.

President Roosevelt Characterizes Senator as Soldier Fallen in Battle.

"A PILLAR OF STRENGTH"

Foes on Court Issue Join Others in Statements of Tribute.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 14 — President Roosevelt characterized Senator Joseph Robinson today "as a soldier who has fallen with face to the battle."

Mourning the death this morning of a friend and "a pillar of strength," the chief executive said in a formal statement:

"In the face of a dispensation so swift in its coming and so tragic in the loss it brings to the nation, we bow in sorrow. A pillar of strength is gone. A soldier has fallen with face to the battle.

"I personally mourn the passing of a greatly beloved friend whose fidelity through the long years never wavered. Those who knew Joseph Taylor Robinson best recognized in him the qualities of true liberal thought. Mindful of the needs of underprivileged he was devoted always to improvement of the lot of the masses.

"In his going, Joe Robinson has left a record as high in achievement as it was faithful in performance. He never temporized with principle nor bargained where the public interest was the issue. But, day by day, through long service in high office, he brought to the national councils the contribution of great learning and sound wisdom—a leadership inspired by courage and guided by consummate common sense and a devo-

CIO WITNESSES HEARD IN STRIKE SUIT TRIAL

Charge Treatment in Steel Strike Area Was Illegal and Inhuman.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 14—Committee for Industrial Organization counsel asserted in federal district court today that it was attempting to show a "campaign of terrorization" existed in the Ohio steel strike area.

In opposing state objections to the testimony of Mrs. Julia Culak, wife of a Struthers steel worker, who said sheriff's deputies and police officers dragged her barefooted and half-clothed from her home June 27, Edward Lamb, CIO co-counsel, said

"We are showing that this is part of a campaign of terrorization. It not only is illegal conduct, but it is inhuman conduct."

The CIO is seeking an injunction to prevent National Guard troops from aiding local authorities in the strike-embroiled zones.

Mrs. Culak said that, although

DEATH SADDENS CAPITAL

Passing of Roosevelt's Senate Advisor Disrupts Legislative Program.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 14—Senator Joseph T. Robinson, Democratic leader since 1922 and President Roosevelt's chief senate advisor, died suddenly today in his capital apartment home.

Robinson's body was discovered at 8:15 a. m. (EST) by the family's Negro maid, Mary Jasper.

Coroner A. MacGruder MacDonald said his death was due to heart disease.

Dr. George W. Calver, capitol physician, said Robinson apparently had left his bed about midnight and had gone to the bathroom where he fell face downward.

Calver said Robinson, who was 64 years old, had suffered several heart attacks in recent months.

The physician said that when Robinson made the address which touched off fiery senate debate on the court issue he became very pale and cut his address short.

"I did not see him at the time," Calver said, "but many who were there noticed he became very pale and apparently cut his speech short. Senator Copeland rushed to his side when he stopped speaking."

Tentative plans were made to send Senator Robinson's body to Arkansas tomorrow evening.

As word of his death spread over the capital, many of his colleagues went to the Robinson home. The first to arrive were Senators Harrison (D., Miss.) and Walsh (D., Mass.)

"I am shocked beyond expression," Harrison said as he departed. "Senator Robinson's death was

The Arkansas house delegation also called in a group at the Robinson apartment. Senator Hattie Caraway, Robinson's colleague from Arkansas, announced she would accompany the body home.

Both senate and house made plans to suspend business immediately after convening at noon out of respect to the dead leader.

Mention 3 As Possible Successors to Robinson

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 14—Three names figured most prominently today in speculation over selection of a Democratic senate leader to succeed Senator Robinson of Arkansas who died during the night.

The three senators are Harrison of Mississippi, Byrnes of South Carolina and Barkley of Kentucky.

They were the trio who had been most frequently discussed as possible leaders ever since Democratic senators had made up their minds that Senator Robinson would be named to the supreme court.

All three had been close advisors to Robinson during his arduous days as majority leader in charge of a gigantic new deal legislative program.

Senator Harrison, the veteran in point of service, has been chairman of the powerful finance committee since the Democrats obtained control of the senate in 1933, and has been directly in charge of such legislation as NRA, social security, reciprocal tariffs, and the annual tax measures which have figured prominently in the Roosevelt legislative program.

HOMESICK PRISONER CAUGHT AT NEVADA

Toledo Youth Walks Away from Camp To Visit Mother.

Special to The Star

NEVADA, O., July 14—Homesick and laboring under the belief he had been imprisoned for life, Leonard Parker, 20, of Toledo, who escaped from the state prison farm for minors at Orient, was turned over to Wyandot county authorities today by Mayor V. V. Post of Nevada.

Footsore and, he said, "so homesick" to see his mother in Toledo, he was picked up yesterday afternoon on the Brush Ridge-Nevada road by Walter Graber who was returning to his home in Nevada from Marion. Questioned by members of the family in the car, he at first "stalled" and then broke down in tears and readily poured out his story.

He said he was sent from Toledo to the prison farm and had served three months of a sentence on an assault and battery charge. He told the Grabers and later Mayor Pool and Sheriff Harry Weatherholtz that he thought he was in prison for life and that he was "so homesick" to see his mother that yesterday morning he walked away from the farm and began hitchhiking to Toledo. The heavy prison shoes had begun to hurt his feet and it was his limping that awakened the sympathy of the Grabers and moved them to offer him a ride.

When they heard his story they took him to their home and Mr. Graber went to Mayor Pool with the information. The mayor went to the Graber home, got the youth, and took him to the Nevada jail to spent the night. This morning he was turned over to Sheriff Weatherholtz of Upper Sandusky.

The sheriff said he would call Orient prison officials this afternoon and that the youth probably would be returned to the farm Thursday.

PEIPING, July 14—The Japanese high command at Tientsin rushed 2,000 reinforcements, fully supported with artillery and armored cars, to the Peiping battle area today after the defeat of Japanese troops by the 29th Chinese route army before the southern and eastern gates of the city yesterday.

They were headed for the Japanese army field base at Fengtai, west of the city, in the zone where clashes between night-maneuvering Japanese and the 29th army last Wednesday precipitated the grave crisis between Japan and China.

The reinforcements moved up to the front in a fleet of motor trucks composed of transport units just arrived from Manchoukuo and in all available vehicles that could be bought from Tientsin dealers.

RAIN BRINGS SOME RELIEF FROM HEAT

Marion residents enjoyed continued relief from the heat wave today, relief apparently brought by showers yesterday and early this morning. Rainfall measuring .85 of an inch fell in the 24-hour period ending today at 8 a. m.

Further rain is predicted in the government weather forecast, which reads "Local thunderstorms tonight and Thursday; little change in temperature."

A maximum of 87 was reached by the mercury here yesterday, with a low of 63 degrees last night. It marked the first time in a week that the maximum reading has been below 90 degrees. A year ago today, readings of 105 and 75 were recorded.

At noon today, the mercury stood at 80 degrees, Dr. E. H. Ratfensperger, official weather observer here, reported.

YOU NOW LOOK YEARS YOUNGER

That is what my friends say since I took Vendol.

Mrs. Rose Anders, of Roseville, Ohio, says: "My friends say I look years younger and I know it is true, because Vendol has helped me so much. It relieved constant suffering from constipation then I improved in every way and I can't remember when I've felt so good."

Vendol is made from Nature's Roots and Herbs mixed with valuable Alkalines. It acts as a pleasant laxative bringing out awful gases and impurities which may have been causing you many days of misery from headaches, dizziness, spots before the eyes, tired, wornout feeling and nervousness. It acts as a diuretic to sluggish kidneys, relieving backache, pains in the arms and limbs. Vendol relieves indigestion, gas, bloating, shortness of breath, excess acid in stomach, sallow complexion, boils, eruptions and many other troubles due to constipation.

Take Vendol and you will enjoy such a pleasant cleansing and invigorating effect that you will FEEL like a different person and LOOK years younger.

SEN. JOSEPH T. ROBINSON IS STRICKEN SUDDENLY

body, the late senior senator from Arkansas, Mr. Robinson.

"It is not my purpose at this time to try to enumerate the good qualities or to call attention to the statesmanship of the man whom the senate, the nation and the state will so greatly miss and whose death all so deeply deplore."

At the end of her brief speech, delivered in trembling voice, Mrs. Caraway offered the usual resolution of adjournment out of respect for the deceased senator.

Before it was voted, Senator Barkley, Democrat of Kentucky, acting majority leader, offered a eulogy. As he talked, many senators sat with bowed heads and closed eyes. Mrs Caraway held her hand over her eyes.

"No abler, truer, finer, more loyal or devoted man ever served in this chamber from any state," Barkley said in grave tones.

"No man ever bore his responsibility with greater courage, patience, foresight and wisdom than Senator Robinson.

"His death constitutes at this particular time a major calamity, not only to the senate but to the country at large.

"I cannot recall any death that has been a greater calamity to public service."

Capital Shocked

The sudden death of the senate leader shocked the capital and threw the administration's legislative program into turmoil.

Robinson who had been Democratic leader since 1922, was personally in charge of the administration's two major legislative campaigns to enact President Roosevelt's bills to reorganize the courts and the executive departments. His colleagues generally had expected his appointment to the supreme court to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Justice Van Devanter.

Although Robinson's health had not been quite as good as in former years, his sudden death was a tremendous shock to his senatorial colleagues and all of official Washington.

The Democratic leader had been working with terrific energy during recent weeks in an effort to devise a compromise court bill for which he could obtain senate approval. The substitute measure now under debate was drafted under his direction.

He also had given close personal attention to the government reorganization program. Two or three weeks ago he personally introduced a compromise bill to carry out the chief executive's reorganization program and had called his committee to begin work on it today.

Some of the Arkansas senator's closest friends, however, had been disturbed by his physical condition.

Suffered from Strain

He had missed several days from the senate during recent weeks due to the strain on his physique.

After attending a strategy conference with his chief lieutenants on the court bill yesterday morning, Robinson returned to his home instead of attending the senate session because he did not feel up to par. There was no indication, however, that his illness was serious.

Robinson's home, where he was found dead today, is directly across the capitol plaza from the senate wing of the capitol. He was temporarily living alone as Mrs. Robinson had gone home to Little Rock, Ark.

Robinson, for the past 15 years Democratic leader in the senate, has been one of the outstanding political figures in Washington.

When the Democrats gained control of the senate along with the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Robinson became majority leader. As such, he has been the new deal's legislative chieftain, and steered through congress the mass of new laws initiated by President Roosevelt's administration.

Even before he became senate leader, Robinson had become recognized nationally in the Democratic party.

In 1928 the Democratic convention chose him as vice presidential candidate to run on the ticket with Governor Al Smith of New York. Because of that, he had been chosen as the official administration spokesman for replies to Smith's attacks on the new deal.

In his capacity as majority leader during the new deal, Robinson supported the administration's program from beginning to end. Critics have contended that he was abandoning his principles in doing so, because he was a conservative at heart.

But others have contended that Robinson's career displayed a consistent streak of liberalism. From his early house days he supported child labor and anti-trust legislation as well as other measures characterized as "liberal."

He was without doubt one of the senate's most popular members, despite a violent temper which on occasion caused him difficulties. Away from work, Robinson was one of the most genial of men. He was famous for his story telling. His chief recreations were hunting and fishing.

Smith's Running Mate

Political fortunes shaped themselves almost by apparent design to lift Joseph Taylor Robinson to a position of eminence in the Democratic party in the affairs of the nation.

Although a figure of importance in the senate during the better part of the decade after the World war, his peculiar availability in 1928 made him the running mate of Alfred E. Smith in one of the most memorable presidential elections in the nation's history.

To a large extent he shaped his own destiny, but he was, nevertheless, a man seemingly cast for the times. Religion and prohibition, over which the states below the Mason and Dixon line fell deeply, dictated that the Democratic party which had chosen Smith, a New York Catholic and wet, as its leader to contest with Herbert Hoover, would do well to go to the south for its vice presidential nominee.

In Senator Robinson, the party found a man not only suitable to meet the strategic necessities, but also one whose ability, political courage and simple dignity held out the best hope for success.

He carried his campaign—one of the most ambitious ever attempted by a major candidate—from coast to coast and from the northernmost states to the gulf; and while his ticket was badly beaten, Robinson returned to the senate manifestly more strongly entrenched as the leader of his own party and a power to be reckoned with by the Republicans in the determination of any policy.

Rapid Strides to Prominence

His ride to prominence reads like the theme of a boy's novel from the pen of an Alger or a Standish. Within 15 days he had been a representative in congress, governor of Arkansas and a United States senator from that state. He resigned as congressman Jan. 14, 1913, to become governor, having been elected to that office the previous September.

Meanwhile the death of one of the senators from Arkansas had created a vacancy and the legislature promptly chose the newly installed governor to go to the senate. He was selected Jan. 22 and took the oath March 10, 1913, thus returning to Washington almost coincidentally with Woodrow Wilson, whom he supported loyally.

Senator Robinson was born in a small settlement near Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 26, 1872, the son of Dr. James and Matilda Jane Robinson. He obtained his early education at home and in rural schools and at the age of 17 began teaching school to earn money to enable him to continue his studies. He attended the Arkansas State University and pursued his law course at the University of Virginia. He was admitted to the bar in 1896.

On Dec. 15, 1896, Senator Robinson married Miss Ewilda Gertrude Miller. They had no children.

Fearless Campaigner

The circumstances that confronted the Democratic party in 1928 brought Senator Robinson to play a fearless role in the memorable campaign of that year. Leaders of the party were torn between inclination and doubt. No Catholic ever had been nominated for president by a major party. The South and the West were dry. Still, Governor Smith had become the outstanding Democrat and his nomination scarcely could be denied.

While other Democrats waited for more tangible indications that might point the way to a judicious course, Senator Robinson rose one day in the senate and took severely to task Senator Heflin of Alabama, Democrat, who, almost daily, had been assailing Governor Smith and what he termed the Roman Catholic political machine. Senator Robinson electrified his colleagues with his appeal for religious tolerance.

No one, he said, should be denied the right to ask for the highest honors in the gift of his countrymen because of the way in which he worshipped. Nor was it devotion to the Democratic principles declared by Jefferson, he asserted, to inveigh arguments contradictory to the constitutional provision which says no religious test shall be exacted of a candidate.

Such an argument coming from the party leader in the senate, a Protestant from an overwhelmingly Protestant Southern state when the topic still was looked upon as political quagmire, provoked a range in interesting discussion. Some observers contended the senator by his utterance had made himself available for the presidential nomination should Governor Smith fail to muster enough votes. Others, even at that early date, declared his nomination for vice president was inevitable.

Nominated on First Ballot

However canny may have been those predictions, Senator Robinson found the opportunity to reiterate his opinions before the Houston convention of which he was chairman. Quite unexpectedly, he reasserted the principles of religious freedom at the end of a prepared speech and his words turned the convention hall into an uproar with delegates fighting and shouting. He was nominated for vice president on the first ballot.

With the same directness that had stamped his earlier actions, Senator Robinson swung into the campaign. He submerged himself entirely and sought rather to draw a human picture of Governor Smith to the country.

Although he was not a man to be led away by superficial indications, it is safe to say that the overwhelming defeat of Governor Smith and himself was a great disappointment to Senator Robinson. He was convinced that the South would remain Democratic and the Republican victory in four states of that section was a great surprise to him.

Author of Important Measures

Rather than let his disappointment embitter him, Robinson returned to the senate to re-cement his party there solidly and directed the path toward reconstruction. His leadership was so effective that he was able not only to hold Democrats, but also drew support from Republican independents. The formation of that coalition in spite of the great Republican victory at the polls stood as a serious threat to the outset of the Hoover administration and gave the Democratic party a position of importance entirely disproportionate with the devastating defeat it had suffered.

Senator Robinson won his spurs in leadership of his party at the 1929 Democratic National convention at San Francisco, when he served as chairman during the trying grind of 44 ballots. The record he made there played no small part in his selection three years later as the Democratic leader in the senate when Oscar W. Underwood laid down the reins.

In his legislative accomplishments, the Arkansas senator was the author of many important measures. He drafted a bill which led to the reorganization of the Interstate Commerce Commission, another creating the Federal Trade Comulsion, and had charge of the child labor law, which subsequently was declared unconstitutional by the supreme court.

Commonly Called "Joe"

One of the best indexes to the character and personality of Senator Robinson, was the fact that most every one called him "Joe". Not that he lacked dignity, or anything like that, for when the occasion demanded he could be as dignified as Henry Cabot Lodge, but he had an infectious grin and his intimates just naturally dropped the "Senator" when addressing him and let it go at "Joe."

It would not be exaggeration to say that the Democratic party has never had a leader in the senate personally more popular with his party colleagues—and for that matter with the Republicans as well—than the chunky senator from Arkansas. As a mollifier, as a peace-maker and a co-ordinator between growling factions, Senator Robinson had few equals among the leaders of his party.

He took over the reins of leadership in the senate at the beginning of the Sixty-eighth Congress, when differences between the Democrats had been pronounced for two years, or since the crushing defeat suffered by the party in the campaign of 1920. It was these differences that resulted in Oscar Underwood's voluntary retirement from the job.

When Underwood gave up trying to keep the senate Democrats a cohesive working organization the Democrats turned to Robinson almost with one accord. He had acted as assistant leader for months, and for the last few months of Underwood's incumbency he had really been the Democratic leader, as Underwood was on the outs with his party in the senate owing to his support of the arms conference treaties, which his party opposed.

From a disorganized and quarreling minority Robinson whipped, led and cajoled the Democrats of the senate into a fairly smooth-running organization, with a program and a purpose. And, shrewdly taking advantage of the insurgency in the Republican ranks, the organization which Robinson welded together was at times the real majority of the upper house.

Robinson's principal appeal was his innate friendliness and his willingness to "go along" with the majority sentiment in his own party.

He was conceded to be one of the ablest of his party from the standpoint of statesmanship and achievement.

In physical appearance, Senator Robinson was not unlike the proverbial "village smith." He was brawny and powerful, and his head set forward with just the hint of aggression. His straight black hair was hardly touched with gray.

Throughout his congressional career, Senator Robinson was known for his party regularity. He abided by the majority decision of his party on every issue of consequence in the last 30 years, and yet, despite this, he acquired the reputation of being "a progressive Democrat."

He was a consistent supporter of Woodrow Wilson down to and including the League of Nations.

HARDIN CO. TRYING SAVE-A-CHILD PLAN

Special to The Star

KENTON, July 14 — Juvenile Judge G. B. DeWitt of Kenton today had started his drive to interest church, civic, lodge and patriotic groups in "saving a child." He spoke to members of an Ada lyic group this week and urged their cooperation in his attempt to save wayward boys and girls from penal institutions. He is asking each organization to sponsor only one youth with wayward tendencies by appointing an individual or committee to take a personal interest in the boy or girl. Judge DeWitt believes that such a program will result in almost total elimination of any need for sentences to the industrial school.

Garner Shocked

UVALDE, Tex., July 14—Vice President John N. Garner was greatly shocked when informed early today of the death of Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas in Washington.

The vice president was away from his Texas home on a fishing trip when the nation learned of the passing of the Democratic leader.

"The country has lost a great statesman and one of the most efficient and effective legislators in the history of the congress," the vice president said. "I have suffered a great personal loss since we were devoted friends, each sharing the other's confidence and good will."

Farley Praises Robinson

DENVER, July 14—Postmaster General James A. Farley said today he was "inexpressibly shocked" to learn of the death in Washington of the Democratic leader, Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas.

"Senator Robinson had been an outstanding American for many, many years. His sudden death is a terrible thing, and he will be mourned by millions of his fellow citizens," Farley said.

Farley, here attending the national convention of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, did not comment on the political consequences of the senate leader's death.

"Senator Robinson has been an influence among members of the United States senate for many, many years. He was highly respected, not only by everyone with whom he came in contact, but by the American people generally, because of his sincerity and honesty of purpose," Farley said.

"He was in every sense a real American, a patriot and a great statesman.

"I mourn his loss personally, as I considered him a real friend in every sense of the word."

Court Foes Voice Praise

WASHINGTON, July 14—Senator Wheeler, Democrat of Montana, chief of the forces opposing Senator Robinson, Democrat of Arkansas, on the court reorganization bill, called the majority leader "a great leader of men and an able statesman."

"I regret extremely the untimely passing of Senator Robinson," said Wheeler, who for a week has been in bitter debate with the Arkansan over the court measure.

Senator O'Mahoney, Democrat of Wyoming, another leading foe of court reorganization said Robinson "was one of the most lovable, vigorous, able and loyal characters I've ever known."

"He has made a record that will stand with the greatest in the history of the senate," O'Mahoney said.

Senator McNary of Oregon, Republican floor leader, said:

"I am shocked beyond measure. Undoubtedly the unbearable load he was forced to carry this session hastened his going. The senate has lost a fine companion and the country a great legislator."

Senator Pope, Democrat of Idaho: "No man in the senate was better loved nor will be missed more than he."

Senator Connally, Democrat of Texas, also a court reorganization opponent, said he was shocked but not greatly surprised at Senator Robinson's death.

"I'm greatly grieved at the death of Joe Robinson," he said. "He was a useful and able senator. The country has sustained a real loss in his death.

"He has been overworking and I was afraid it was going to happen."

Other comment:

Senator Capper, Republican of Kansas: "It is a terrible shock. His death is a great loss to the country and to the administration. I have never seen a leader who had so much respect from both sides of the house."

Senator Vic Donahey of Ohio: "He carried the greatest burden of any man in the United States senate."

Senator Vandenberg, Republican of Michigan: "Senator Robinson gave his life to his country. I have no doubt that the excessively heavy burdens which he has carried as majority leader of the senate hastened his untimely end. He was a great citizen, a great American and a great senator."

Representative Fish, Republican of New York: "He was a fine type of American statesman, honest, courageous and willing at all times to uphold his own convictions. Without the active leadership of Senator Robinson the court issue will collapse of its own weight, and I reaffirm the prediction I made months ago that it will never reach a vote in the house of representatives."

Representative Snell, Republican of New York, house minority leader: "He was an outstanding official in public life. He was a man of fine character and great ability. His death is a severe loss to the country."

Secretary Morgenthau: "The death of Joe Robinson is a tragic loss to the nation. * * * It was due largely to his far-sighted wisdom and leadership that the congress has been enabled to function with such great efficiency in these last few years."

Senator Davis, Republican of Pennsylvania: "Joe Robinson was a great American. His place in history is secure. He was faithful to the principles of democracy, and he died championing the cause to which his party leadership called him."

3 MENTIONED FOR ROBINSON'S POSITION

in 1916 after four terms in the house.

Senator Byrnes is just starting his second term but served in the house from 1911 to 1925. He has been regarded by some as closer personally to President Roosevelt than any other senator but in the past year has broken spectacularly with the chief executive on several major issues.

Last session Byrnes was one of the leaders in fighting for payment of the bonus, despite objections from the White House. This year he has dissented from White House leadership on the labor question and economy. Byrnes led the move to attach a legislative rider to one of the administration bills condemning sit-down strikers, a move designed to force President Roosevelt to declare himself on this issue.

Senator Barkley, who has served as leader whenever Robinson was absent, has been more regular in voting for administration measures than almost any one else in the senate. He was keynoter at both the Democratic national conventions which nominated President Roosevelt.

Also a former member of the house, Barkley was elected to the senate in 1927 and is now approaching the end of his second term.

If a dispute over the senate Democratic leadership should develop, a number of other candidates might figure in the contest. Among these are Senator Wheeler, of Montana, now the leader of the court bill opposition.

CIO WITNESSES HEARD IN STRIKE SUIT TRIAL

ill, she was taken with her husband to the Struthers city hall and that their four children were left alone in bed at home. She said guardsmen stationed at the city hall jeered at her.

Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood overruled the state's motion to strike out Mrs. Culak's testimony.

The CIO had decided not to call Gov. Martin L. Davey to the stand, CIO attorneys explaining that they would be unable to cross-examine their own witness.

The governor is a defendant in the CIO suit seeking an injunction against the use of troops to protect non-strikers wishing to work in the steel mills.

Adj. Gen. Emil F. Marx, another defendant, announced late yesterday that only 1,100 of the 5,000 guardsmen mobilized June 21 remained in the strike area. He said 500 were in the Cleveland district and 300 in the Canton-Massillon section.

With Gov. Davey a courtroom visitor, CIO attorneys sent witnesses to the stand in an effort to show that the guardsmen used rough tactics against pickets and were ordered to use their bayonets.

SHERIFF CALLED IN AT OUSTER TRIAL

Delaware Judge Issues Summons in Slot Machine Case.

By The Associated Press

CHILLICOTHE, O., July 14 — Ouster proceedings against Mayor James Ford resumed today with the sheriff's office "marked in" as spectator. Judge H. W. Jewell of Delaware sitting by assignment to hear the charges, brought by the Ross County Citizenship league on the grounds Ford permitted slot machine gambling, said yesterday it was the responsibility of the sheriff as well as the mayor to enforce anti-slot machine laws. He summoned Sheriff Jacob Vincent to "sit in" at the proceedings.

PUBLIC RITES FOR ROBINSON PLANNED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 14—Senate leaders tentatively arranged today for a public funeral for Senator Robinson of Arkansas in the senate chamber tomorrow, with President Roosevelt attending. Final decision, however, was reserved pending word from Mrs. Robinson.

Senator Pittman (D. Nev.) president pro tem of the senate, told newspapermen Mrs. Robinson was so shocked by the sudden death of her husband, that she had been unable to talk to leaders about the funeral plans.

MAY END EARHART SEARCH SATURDAY

Number of Planes in Hunt Reduced Today After Fruitless Scanning.

By The Associated Press

HONOLULU, July 14—Naval authorities directing a vast aerial search along the equator for Amelia Earhart and her navigator, missing 12 days, reduced the number of searching planes today and indicated the hunt would be ended Saturday.

Fliers of the aircraft carrier Lexington awaited passing of a tropical storm today before resuming their "last chance" search for the aviatrix and Frederick J. Noonan who disappeared on a flight from New Guinea to tiny Howland Island on July 2.

The storm forced cancellation of an afternoon flight yesterday after 60 planes fruitlessly had scanned 21,000 square miles of the South Pacific during the forenoon.

"Somewhere" in the 265,000 square miles of search area, the pair was forced down out of fuel after missing the small coral islet which lifts itself but two feet above the ocean.

The Lexington's 60 planes took off while the carrier was 120 miles northwest of Howland and sped southward. They took up positions two miles apart in two divisions, one on each side of the Lexington. Each pilot was accompanied by an observer.

The planes returned at 4 p. m., eastern stand. time, refueled, and were preparing to extend the hunt when the sudden tropical storm halted the flight.

Rear Admiral O. G. Murfin, commandant of the Fourteenth naval district, directing the search, said beginning today no more than 42 planes would be engaged in the hunt. The others he said, would be retained aboard the Lexington for overhauling and refueling.

BIG WPA PROGRAM PLANNED IN COUNTY

taken from a balance of approximately $25,000 now left in WPA project funds set aside by the county and which have not been expended.

The remaining $10,000 in the WPA balance will be transferred to the county's road material fund, to finance road maintenance work done outside of WPA projects.

The funds in the WPA account were appropriated by the commissioners from money received from the auto license and gasoline taxes.

An additional $10,000 for the road maintenance program will be taken from a balance of approximately that amount, which now exists in the county maintenance and repair fund.

The commissioners are planning to inspect WPA work being done on Franklin county roads in the near future, at the invitation of Mr. Patin and Mr. Matheny. Franklin county has an extensive program now under way.

Series of Conferences

The conference was one of a series being held in various counties by Mr. Patin and Mr. Matheny, following the reorganization July 1 of the WPA districts in Ohio. Mr. Patin explained that the state's 12 districts were reduced to six, with Marion county now in the Sixth district, operated out of a district office in Columbus, instead of Sandusky, as in the past. H. M. Naylor of Mansfield is the new district director.

Mr. Patin said meetings are being held in many of the counties to plan the next year's work and to examine the present setup in each county. The new Sixth district consists of 20 counties, including Marion, Wyandot, Crawford, Hardin, Morrow, Union and Delaware.

Marion county commissioners, who visited the Seneca county tuberculosis sanitarium at Tiffin Monday afternoon said the inspection of the hospital furnished several ideas for the proposed WPA project of remodeling part of the Marion county home into a tuberculosis sanitarium. No definite steps on the project can be taken, they said, until the architect's plans are nearer completion.

DEFENDS TAX STAND OF MRS. ROOSEVELT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 14 — Robert Jackson, assistant attorney general, told congressional tax investigators in a letter today that Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was all that a conscientious taxpayer could "do" to assure payment of any taxes that might be due in connection with a broadcasting contract she signed in 1935.

Representative Fish, Republican of New York, had accused the President's wife of using a tax law "loophole" when she signed a contract for ten broadcasts, for which she was to receive $1,000, $3,000 to go to the American Friends Service Committee, Philadelphia, a charitable organization, after each program.

In the letter, made public by Chairman Doughton, Democrat, North Carolina, of the congressional tax committee, Jackson, former chief counsel of the internal revenue bureau, said Mrs. Roosevelt had submitted her broadcasting proposal to the treasury in 1934 to learn whether the proceeds might go to the charity, free of tax, or whether the contract was in such form that she should pay a tax.

"She was in the position of an artist, or actor, who aids charity by a benefit performance," he wrote.

"There is no tax on acts of kindness and whatever spiritual enrichment comes of good works is not estimated as taxable income."

HUGE BATTLE ON WEST OF MADRID

By The Associated Press

General Jose Miaja's government legions were locked with insurgent troops west of Madrid today in a struggle of World war proportions to smash the insurgent siege lines around the capital.

Land and air forces combined in the government attack.

An insurgent communique declared the backbone of the government offensive had been broken by a counter-attack at Villanueva Del Pardillo.

Army Plan.

Occidentals find nothing surprising in the march of Japanese troops into northern China and development of a major Asiatic war.

The explanation is simple. Japanese policy calls for penetration of China by force. War makers merely are doing some more penetrating, having invented the usual flimsy excuses for starting to fight the Chinese.

The trouble is, the explanation is too simple. Nothing affecting nations ever is so ridiculously easy to understand.

Probably it is true that Japanese are under the spell of militaristic nationalism. They are under another spell, too—the spell of a war boom made possible by army and navy expenditures and the slippery financing and heavy taxation which accompany large defense budgets.

Like Germany, Italy, Russia and, to a lesser extent, France, Great Britain and the United States, the Japanese are following the army plan of politics and economics. Things are done, not because they are permissible according to law or ethics but because they are possible according to soldiers.

Unfortunately, soldiers are no more intelligent than other men. Some say they are less intelligent than average. In either case, they are living according to a policy of force—the most complex of all political situations. They must live or perish by the sword.

For the time being, it probably is enough to bear in mind that Japan is applying the army plan to China. The question for the future is what the army plan is going to mean, not for China but for Japan.

Gershwin and Jazz.

George Gershwin, best known of American composers, is not the first brilliant musician to die young. Nor was he the first to struggle to get a following then to get it so suddenly that he impaired his health by overwork.

His career, with such exceptions as must be made for the changes which radio and motion pictures have made in music, was much like that of most musicians. As a child, he wanted to learn to play a piano. His family helped him. He became a musician, he led the way toward a new movement in composition, then died at the peak of his career, leaving much work to do.

The next time some one asks why there are no few great composers writing music today, it probably would create a stir to comment that no one knows how many great composers there are today. George Gershwin, though he made a great deal of money from his music, is not recognized as a great composer, for instance.

Later, he may get recognition he lacks now. It will be possible to know about that half a century from now when the world discovers whether jazz was modern music or whether it was just some thing the moderns did to music.

Strange Procedure.

Ambassador Bingham's widely quoted speech in London telling Europe's "despots" that Great Britain and the United States are able and willing to take care of themselves in an armament race appears now to have been made without state department authority.

Secretary Hull has asked Mr. Bingham for the text of his speech and announced that it does not necessarily reflect the official views of the government, because it was not submitted in advance. Here is a strange procedure.

When diplomats, particularly important ones like the ambassador to the Court of St. James', used words like "despot" in referring to the head of a foreign government, Americans have a right to believe the matter has been talked over carefully in advance. Ambassadors can be recalled; the words they speak never can be recalled.

This apparently is what Secretary Hull has been thinking. If the United States is going to break off friendly relations with certain European governments, some one with more authority than an ambassador should initiate the policy.

40 Down, 200 To Go.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. is something the public takes for granted, which is as it should be.

When Chairman Crowley of FDIC announces publicly that 40 banks have been cited and 200 placed under special scrutiny for unsoundness, out of 14,000 participants, confidence is strengthened.

For this seems plain:

The FDIC, to protect itself and its participants, will examine closely every bank which it insures. The way to keep banks from failing is to straighten them out before they get to the end of their rope.

Thus, the 40 banks which FDIC has cited for unsound practices are eligible for reinstatement in good standing when they become sound banks. It is an open-and-shut proposition. Either they are sound banks and, therefore, insurable, or they are not sound banks.

Before the idea of deposit insurance was put into effect, public confidence in banks was founded on the assumption of constant, careful examination. Not every bank that collapsed under the depression's weight was the victim of unsound practices and careless inspection, but many of them proved woefully inadequate to stand unusual strain.

When each bank participating in an insurance plan like FDIC stands to lose by the failure of any other bank, it is logical to believe the thoroughness of bank inspection will be maintained on a higher level than it ever has reached before in the United States.

What Does Lewis Want?

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1937, by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON, July 14—Curious generally may be asking nowadays why John Lewis and the CIO want to obtain control of the 3,000,000 employes of the federal, state and city governments throughout the country.

President Roosevelt, to be sure, has said the government employes cannot strike or bargain collectively, and John Lewis has concurred that the government workers are not to strike or picket. Then why should these employes pay $3,000,000 a month in dues and why should they be organized by the CIO?

The reason is political. The CIO is in one sense a labor organization, but it is also a political instrumentality, operating with the same objectives as the Republican or Democratic parties. The CIO party, of course, was active in the last campaign in several states and did yeoman service for the Roosevelt cause entirely apart from the making of a contribution of $500,000 to the new deal campaign.

In this connection, the CIO has apparently violated the federal corrupt practices act. Since this law forbids contributions by corporations and since the CIO is not incorporated, it has been assumed generally that the Lewis organization was immune from the provisions of the statute. It so happens, however, that there are other sections of the federal corrupt practices act which the CIO has ignored. One section provides:

"The term 'political committee' includes any committee, association, or organization which accepts contributions or makes expenditures for the purpose of influencing or attempting to influence the election of candidates or presidential and vice presidential electors (1) in two or more states, or (2) whether or not in more than one state if such committee, association, or organization (other than a duly organized state or local committee of a political party) is a branch or subsidiary of a national committee, association, or organization."

What Is The CIO

If the CIO is a "political committee" as the term is used in the law, it should have filed with the clerk of house of representatives a statement of receipts and expenditures each year, even when there is no election. There is a penalty for failing to do this amounting to a fine of $1,000 or one year in jail or both. All local union officers would seem to be liable if they are proved guilty of failing to make an accounting.

The CIO, on the other hand, may deny it is a "political committee" in the sense in which the term is used in the law. If that be the case, then there is a different provision of the act which the CIO has flouted. It provides:

"Every person (other than a political committee) who makes an expenditure in one or more items, other than by contribution to a political committee, aggregating $50 or more within a calendar year for the purpose of influencing in two or more states the election of candidates, shall file with the clerk an itemized detailed statement of such expenditures in the same manner as required of the treasurer of a political committee."

In other words, the CIO cannot have its cake and eat it, too. If it contends it is not a political committee, then the CIO has failed to make an accounting in the house of representatives of expenditures for political purposes made in excess of $50 and which were not reported through the regular political channels. The CIO has openly boasted through its leadership that it was actively engaged in the last campaign. While it raised a war chest and gave money and also loaned big sums to the President's campaign committee, the CIO did a good bit of organizing work among its own members in getting them to register and in telling them how to vote at the polls. All sums expended for this purpose in excess of $50 have to be recorded officially or else a fine can be imposed and a prison sentence as well against any officer of an association or person responsible for the finances both locally and nationally.

There is no record of any complete list of receipts and expenses filed with the clerk of the house by the CIO. It has been rumored, for example, that the CIO received contributions in some instances from certain employers who were siding with the CIO as a means of bringing about increased wages in their competitors' plants. Altogether a compilation of what was received and spent would doubtless prove interesting and in fact the purpose of the law was to enable the public to see what financial influences were behind the various so-called non-partisan groups who have sought in various ways to influence federal elections.

Plans Bigger Chest

The CIO is preparing even bigger campaign chests for 1938 and 1940. One easy source of funds will be the money to be derived from organizing 2,000,000 employes of the federal, state and city governments at $1 a month dues. In return for this, the employes cannot expect the CIO to arrange a strike or do any collective bargaining or picketing for that is all taboo. What the CIO itself can do, of course, is to picket members of congress and exert political pressure on behalf of government employes and for this the government workers are asked to put up a maximum of about $10,000,000 a year. Naturally not all of the government employes will join, but if only twenty per cent of them do, it still means $600,000 a month or about $1,500,000 a year, which is more than most political parties have been able to collect in years past.

The spectacle of a labor organization moving into the ranks of government workers has made many folks in the executive positions in the government rather uneasy. They will not be able to tell whether the employes feel Uncle Sam or John Lewis is the boss hereafter. For when divided allegiance is demanded, there is always uncertainty.

The only possible advantage to the government workers is that the CIO will set up a lobby for them on Capitol Hill, presumably to help increase pay and improve working conditions. But it is a travesty on common sense that the federal workers cannot remain faithful to their own organization which they have had for years and which, after a short experience with an outside union, decided to maintain an independent status. Such an association can pay for any lobby and carry on every activity that John Lewis promises and do the job for an infinitesimal cost compared to the tax which the CIO imposes for dues. Likewise there are embarrassments for the loyal employes who, upon being asked to furnish certain information to his union, must at the same time maintain his allegiance to his employer—his government.

The CIO party is definitely a political movement today and the sooner the President and the attorney general recognize this fact and require obedience to the federal corrupt practices law the sooner will the American people recover the respect they have lost for an administration which is vigilant to enforce the law against political enemies but slow to investigate violations by its political allies.

Worry for Britain

By The Associated Press Feature Service

AFTER-EFFECTS of the World war, continuing to agitate Europe, are now having repercussions in the Holy Land, where a British commission has proposed the partition of Palestine to end Jewish-Arab outbreaks and bring to fulfillment two British promises dating from the European conflict.

In 1915, in order to unite the Arabs and lead them to throw off the Turkish yoke—Turkey then being an ally of Germany—Great Britain promised independence to the Arab provinces of the Turkish empire. Lawrence successfully led the "Revolt in the Desert."

In 1917, seeking the support of world Jewry in the darkest days of the war, the British government, through the Balfour Declaration, promised a national homeland for the Jews in Palestine.

Hard To Keep Promises.

Fulfillment of both promises has proved troublesome.

The rising tide of nationalism among the Arab and Jewish populations of Palestine, and particularly the influx of Jews escaping from persecution in Central Europe, made peaceful solution well-nigh impossible. As a result, the British government appointed a royal commission to investigate and make recommendations.

The commission has recommended partition of the Holy Land into sovereign Jewish and Arabian states, with a new British mandate over an area containing Jerusalem, Bethlehem and Nazareth. At present all of Palestine is administered by the British government under a League of Nations mandate.

Small Sized.

Palestine is about 140 miles long, 23 miles wide at the top, and 50 miles wide in the south. It contains some 9,000 square miles, an area which even a small American state could tuck away in a corner. The population—Jews, Christians and Arabs—was estimated in 1926 at 852,268, although since then thousands of Jews have entered to help build the homeland envisaged in the Balfour Declaration.

The effect of the royal commission's recommendations, if adopted, would be to create two sovereign states—one, Jewish, on the upper Mediterranean coast of Palestine, including the flourishing all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv; the other, Arabian, joined to the present boundaries of Trans-Jordan, an Arab state now under British mandate. Another result would be to make Great Britain, through permanent mandate over Jerusalem, Bethlehem and Nazareth, the guardian of the world's Christian shrines.

Home Town Safer

A RECENT study of traffic accident fatalities in Connecticut performed as a WPA project under supervision of the Connecticut state department of motor vehicles, showed:

In 452 traffic accidents in which a person was killed (either driver or occupant of car), 283 of the drivers involved were away from their usual surroundings or home town; and, of the accidents in which these 283 drivers were involved, 201 occurred at night.

The same survey, in a tabulation of accidents by day or week and accident record of the operator showed that week end (Saturday and Sunday) accidents involved the following: 39 per cent of all traffic accidents; 42 per cent of first accidents (in which the driver had been involved); 34 per cent of "repeater" accidents not the first accident of the driver involved); 55 per cent of hit and run accidents. Case histories of "repeaters" showed that the average lapse of time between accidents for the repeaters was 2 years, 10 months.

Meshekenoghjus, or Little Turtle, as his name is translated into English, was one of the wisest as well as one of the bravest of Indian chieftains. He was in command of the Indians at both Harmars defeat and St. Clair's defeat but he advised against fighting Wayne-A "chief who never sleeps."

He is reported to have said: "We have beaten the enemy twice, under separate commanders. We cannot expect the same good fortune always to attend us." Being overruled by other chiefs, however, he did his best apparently for his side, but the outcome of the Battle of Fallen Timbers proved him to be correct. He died at his village where Fort Wayne, Ind., now stands, on July 14, 1812.

Inflation, Here and Now

BY WALTER E. SPAHR New York University Economics Professor

WE HAVE slipped into a phase of business and price activity which is characteristic of practically every major inflationary movement that the world has seen. We are in a state of squeezing in prices and in business. In many lines both prices and business activity are below the high points reached since recovery started. This is a common characteristic of an inflationary movement. One unfortunate thing about such a situation is that people are inclined to assume that such a slowing up in a rise in prices or in business activity is evidence that the danger of the forces of inflation has passed. This gives the public a false sense of security.

When a government embarks upon a policy of currency inflation, as our government did in 1933 and has persisted since, there arrives a time when it becomes frightened lest the inflationary forces lead to excess in business expansion and to prices that cannot be sustained. When a government becomes concerned over these prospects, it almost invariably launches out on a program designed to restrict prices and to cut business activity in certain respects.

Usual Symptoms

It is common for such a program to involve price fixing, attacks on monopolies on the theory that monopolies cause the high prices, attacks on so-called profiteers, and various other forms of curbing or attacking business enterprise and prices. In short, the tendency is for the government to attack everything except the real causes of the inflationary procedure.

There are many instances of this sort of governmental procedure. For example, when France issued her famous assignats at the end of the eighteenth century prices rose and business expanded. Her government became fearful and began to regulate prices and business. Both sagged quickly under these attacks. When the people and the government witnessed this recession and the accompanying distress demands increased for more inflation and so more currency was issued to relieve the temporary distress.

Varying Developments

France went through the common cycle. She started inflation, then attacked business, then inflated some more to relieve the distress, then placed more severe regulation on business and instituted progressively more severe punitive measures until people were sent to the guillotine for violating the price regulations, or for hoarding commodities, or for not producing commodities which could be produced only at a loss.

We, in this country, went through the same sequence of events at the time of the American revolution. We merely stopped short of sending people to the guillotine. Even as recently as the World war we conducted drives against so-called profiteers and rent gougers, and engaged in price fixing. After that experience, the federal government published a large study in which it was recommended that price fixing and such government devices for combatting rising prices due to inflationary forces be not repeated in the future.

The Real Problem

Despite all these lessons, it now seems quite clear that our federal government is at this moment attempting to fight the existing inflationary forces by a variety of attacks on business which have retarded business activity and are leading to increasing uncertainty and distress. None of these devices will remove the present inflation. The inflated purchasing power of which we hear so much is already in existence. The problem is to liquidate it without loss.

Restricting and hampering business activity does not make it easier to reduce this inflated purchasing power. It makes its liquidation more difficult. A large proportion of the excessive currency in circulation is composed of bank deposits resting upon the government debt. Hampering business and reducing prices will not reduce inflation; it will make it increasingly difficult to raise the taxes with which to balance the federal budget and to retire government securities and this inflated purchasing power.

The way to curb inflation is to attack it directly. Our government is not doing this. It is coercing business and generating the distress which probably will lead to even more inflation.

Popular New York Greeter

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 14.—Every morning between 8 and 7 there strolls northward on Madison avenue in the 30s a Tuxedoed gentleman, a bit weary, on his way home. Strangers turn slowly and smile knowingly. To them, of course, he is another sap out on the last lap of a hectic night.

But to familiars he is Arnold Reuben, the delicatessen man, whose restaurant for more than 20 years in various parts of town has been a fixed haven of the celebrities of the stage, cinema and radio and other callings identified with amusements.

Reuben has stood in the entrance as a greeter from the time his place was a two by twice sandwich shop on upper Broadway until it reached its present opulence. He knows the inside lives of his customers more than most any one of his day and there are few he has not befriended.

The Reuben crowd does not really begin to collect until around 3 a. m. It is composed largely of those in white ties who have been doing the town, from Greenwich Village to Harlem, and do not consider a night out complete without having stopped off at Reuben's.

No newspaper man has been so successful in complete cessation of activities after a busy life as Karl Bickel, who decided to retire as the head of a press association a few years ago. Bickel had worked furiously and at top speed for more than 25 years and there were those who said he could never be happy away from the grind. But he burned all his bridges behind him, built a home at Sarasota, Fla., and, as he says, "just loafs." Some times with the local banker, other times with the shoe cobbler or watches horseshoe pitchers. So preoccupied is he doing nothing he only looks at his mail once a week.

The milk turns out to be a heavenly ambrosia with an opiate delay. As a rule the host soon has the visitors signing on the dotted line. He does not, of course, explain he has taken precaution the day before to bore a hole in the cocoanut, add a goodly portion of gin to the milk. He then replugs the cocoanut and in 24 hours the gin and milk have fermented a lulu.

Wagner Plan Changes Seen

Amendments May Originate With Labor Leaders.

By PRESTON GROVE

WASHINGTON, July 14—[illegible] by circulating [illegible] ranks of labor leaders and [illegible] interested in a plan for amending the Wagner labor relations act that arises almost from within the ranks of labor itself.

The demand for such a revising has grown increasingly insistent for several reasons. One is that strikes have continued in spite of it another that it is optional with labor whether the act shall be brought into play.

For instance, during the early stages of the disturbance in the public Steel, the Steel Workers Organizing committee, a CIO affiliate, refrained from calling on the labor board to conduct an election. It claimed to have a majority membership among the workers, yet declined to assist in exercising the right of collective bargaining, which a true majority would have given it. Republic Steel, which could not appeal to the board [illegible]

Break for Boss

With all due respect to the credibility of labor officials and generally accepted opinion of newsmen and many others, the following strike developments [illegible] that the steel workers committee did not have a majority when it called the strike as a means of recruiting one.

The new plan now [illegible] discussed still does not give the employer the right to ask an election. That would give him an opportunity to call an election when he felt the labor organization was at its lowest ebb.

But the new plan gives the employer a stronger position. For it would let him require a newly recognized majority to [illegible] six months' trial period. In this time the union would have to prove its ability to retain the majority in good order.

After that, however, the employer would be obligated to negotiate with the union unless any agreement reached in the matter of signing an agreement has been a source of dispute.

Whip Hand.

To this point, the new amendments proposed would appear to give labor and industry about a 50-50 break.

But the next phase of the proposal is that an employer could be permitted to withdraw recognition for one year of a majority union if the labor board determines it has breached a contract by striking or other means.

That still leaves the labor board with the whip hand, and to be sure it has been decidedly partial. But it would impose substantial pressure upon the board to act in such a case as that presented by the automobile workers, certain groups of which have struck repeatedly in the General Motors plant in open violation of the peace agreement reached several months ago.

The plan hasn't hit the surface yet, but is a subject of much under-cover discussion.

Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Thursday, July 14, 1927.

Rain broke a heat wave that had gripped the country for several days, causing 31 deaths. The mercury reached a high mark of 94 in Marion.

Wesley M. King, member of the board of county commissioners, was injured when kicked by a horse at his farm seven miles southeast of Marion.

Arrangements were completed for an $18,000 remodeling of the Evangelical church when members of the congregation approved plans drawn by J. Lewis Ellis, Marion architect.

Miss Ruby Craner, graduate of Harding High school and daughter of Mrs. L. H. Craner of Church street, was one of 31 students honored in recognition day exercises at Wittenberg college, Springfield.

Safety Director W. B. Sipe received four bids on a new pumper to be bought for the fire department. The bids ranged from $13,000 to $13,500.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, July 14, 1917.

The newspaper representing Krupps, great German munitions concern, in a series of articles on the war situation warned Germany not to be "too optimistic" in regard to the future.

A Columbus dispatch reported that "Hit the Kaiser—Two Throws for a Nickel," was replacing the old-time baby racks at county fairs and street carnivals. Any one succeeding in hitting the Kaiser on the head was awarded three cigars of dubious quality.

Mrs. Depew Head was hostess to a group of friends at her home north of Marion.

The board of governors of the Marion County Automobile association voted to change the name to the Marion Automobile club and to take out incorporation papers. George Whysall and Fred S. Guthery were named a committee to attend to the incorporation.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Peach of Oak Grove avenue.

Committee Will Take Up Firemen's Pay Restoration

Chairman Stief Announces Conference for Thursday at Meeting of Council.

The request of city firemen for 100 per cent pay moved closer to a hearing last night at city council meeting as Robert Stief, chairman of the council finance committee announced a meeting will be held Thursday night with the committee and a delegation of firemen. He said it is probable the committee will be able to report its findings to council at the next regular meeting.

Other action considered or taken by council last night included: war on weeds in approximately 2,000 vacant lots; decision to permit a Columbus company to place from 15 to 25 large waste-paper boxes in the business district; improvement of two streets; further plans to require railroads to have 24-hour watchmen on grade crossings.

Petitions Circulated

The movement for restoration of full pay for firemen began last month when petitions signed by various groups under the Marion Central Labor Union, Buckeye Aerie No. 337 F. O. Eagles, Marion Food Distributors association and Veterans of Foreign Wars, were made public. When read to council for the last meeting, they were referred to the finance committee for investigation.

The firemen, the petitions state, have been receiving only $5 per cent pay for 17 months, beginning at a time when the city was in financial distress. The petitions state that the financial condition of the city has improved to a point where full payment is possible.

Council also passed a resolution authorizing the city auditor to pay approximately $130 for interest to firemen and policemen who borrowed money from banks during the three months and 20 days they were furloughed last year.

The weed control plan suggested by R. C. Snare, council president, and City Clerk Harry Brookshire followed receipt of numerous complaints. Owners of such weed-filled lots will be notified to have the weeds cut.

If the cutting is not done, the city would order it done by workmen, the cost of the notification and cutting to be assessed on the tax duplicate as a lien against the property of the owner, according to the proposal.

City Clerk Brookshire today discovered an ordinance passed June 27, 1921, authorizing the city health commissioner to order weeds cut as outlined in the proposal before council, thus making unnecessary any further action by council. It also provides that notification of lot owners may be made by mail, and if the owner has not taken action within five days after being notified, the city may proceed to have the weeds cut.

Persons found guilty of violating the ordinance may be fined as much as $50 for each offense, Mr. Brookshire said.

Crossing Request

After presentation of a resolution to require the Erie and Big Four railroads to have 24-hour watchmen on all crossings in the city on their lines, council decided to amend the resolution to designate only more prominent crossings. Considerable discussion ensued as to what crossings should be effected and the matter was referred to the ordinance and franchise and street and alley committees for study.

General agreement was that Oak, Prospect, Main and State streets crossings should have 24-hour service on east-west lines, and possibly Columbia street on the north-south lines.

The city engineer was authorized to prepare plans and estimates for the improvement of Edgewood drive west of Prospect street and for a sewer improvement on Columbia street from the C. & O. tracks to Davids street. The Edgewood drive petition was signed by the property owners and five renters and the Columbia street petitioners was requested by eight residents and owners.

The new waste receptacles met with the general approval of council, although passing of a formal resolution was delayed until the next meeting. The agents for the manufacturers, Charles Schilling and J. E. Mere of Columbus said the boxes will cost the city nothing but that in return the city must grant the maker privilege to solicit and place advertisements of Marion merchants on the sides of the boxes for three years, after which the city would have sole control of them.

The boxes are 20 inches square and 36 inches high with an additional 13-inch top for inserting waste. They are of metal construction.

Minor Appropriations

Two minor appropriations from the general fund were made $395.45 to the service fund for indigent burials and medical care and $25 to the hospital fund.

Having authorized the service director to advertise for bids for a new road roller, council last night authorized him to trade in the city's old roller if possible or sell it outright if necessary.

Councilman Don Biggert presented a complaint that several fire escapes in alleys are low and endanger passing cars and trucks. He asked the street and alley committee to determine how low such escapes can be within the law. He said he has been informed by Fire Chief McFarland that 14½ feet is the lowest.

Councilman Hayse Rogers requested information of the service director as to what can be done to improve the city parking lot, which becomes full of mud-holes at the least rain. Mr. Ruth said it has been graded several times and that a fill-in and construction of a drainage system might help.

The request of J. J. Stafford for a change of sewer connections for his property on Seffner avenue was referred to the sewer committee and the service director.

Andrew Jackson of 440 Van Buren street requested permission to tap into Greenwood street sanitary sewers. He stated two lots on Greenwood and running through to Van Buren have been assessed for the Greenwood street sewer but that the sewer operates only for the Greenwood street half of the lots. His request was referred to the sewer committee.

OFFICERS INSTALLED BY D. OF A. COUNCIL

Officers of Mary A. Canfield Council No. 210, Daughters of America were installed at a meeting last night in the Junior Order hall. Mrs. Ruth Bush, council deputy, presided, assisted by Mrs. Elva Sutton and Mrs. Imo Bonsel as flag bearers.

Those installed are as follows: Mrs. Flo Sekinger, councilor; Mrs. Marie Sekinger, associate councilor; Mrs. Ella Dutcher, vice councilor; Mrs. Ethel Chase, associate vice councilor; Mrs. Alice O'Brien, junior past councilor; Mrs. Lena Wade, associate junior past councilor; Mrs. Essie Thompson, recording secretary; Mrs. Bess Peoples, treasurer and reporter; Mrs. Letha Ashton, conductress; Mrs. Alletis Walters, inside sentinel; Mrs. Mildred Matteson, outside sentinel; Mrs. Florence McCombs and Mrs. Ashton, trustees; Mrs. Laura Stover, captain, Mrs. Bertha Anthony, pianist; Mrs. Hattie Temple, representative; Mrs. Gera Griffith, alternate.

At the next meeting, July 27, the charter will be draped for Mrs. Emma Cook, a member who died recently.

KENTON—Carl Richards of Kenton who suffered a serious leg injury Jan. 4 while working in the office of State Treasurer Knisely, was removed to his home here from Cross hospital, Columbus, where he has been a patient for more than six months.

UNION CO. WOMAN GOING TO ORIENT

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, July 14 — Miss Florence Crider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crider of this city, is making final arrangements to leave here on July 20 for Yunnan province in southwest China and Burma. Miss Crider, a former Union county school teacher, will be the first school teacher to enter the province. She is a graduate of Marysville High school.

Her duties in China will be teaching young people. Miss Crider will leave a Pacific coast port Aug. 7 for the Orient. For the last two years she has been a missionary in the Kentucky mountains. She will be accompanied to China by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Morrison and their four children, who are returning to the province to resume missionary work after a year's leave of absence.

GALION—A meeting of agents of the Big Four Railroad Co. was held at the local freight office Tuesday. B. F. Rose of the general superintendent's office at Indianapolis, was present.

Playgrounds Programs Arranged for Friday

All three playgrounds under the supervision of the Y. M. C. A. will have special events this Friday afternoon, Clarence Lane, boys' work secretary for the Y. M. C. A. said today. McKinley park will have a treasure hunt; Lincoln will have a stunt day and playlets, while the Marion Steam Shovel Co. athletic field on Uncapher avenue will have stunts and games. At the Uncapher avenue park children will bring lunches for the day.

Through the courtesy of J. J. Huebner manager of the Ohio theater, two complimentary tickets will be awarded each week to the boy and girl in each park doing the most noteworthy act during a week. The awards will begin this Friday afternoon.

Tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. Addison Bain, veteran fisherman of Marion, will be at the Uncapher avenue grounds to give a demonstration of fly casting. He will be at Lincoln park Thursday at the same time.

Mr. Lane announced that application for membership in the Knot Hole Gang whose members will be admitted free on certain days to Marion Ohio State league ball games here, are prepared and may be obtained from park supervisors. Approximately 1,000 membership forms have been printed. Children from 6 to 15 are eligible.

Mr. Lane today repeated his plea for all boys interested in softball or handball games to see the supervisor at the park nearest his home. Park teams will be formed and will begin play next week. Two softball teams, one for older and one for younger boys, and one handball team for older boys will be formed at each of the three parks.

The consumption of typewriter ribbons in the United States is estimated at 120,000,000 a month.

MRS. D. A. FRANK and Miss Emily Frank who are here from Sarasota, Fla., for a short visit with relatives and friends, were complimented when Mrs. J. A. Schroeter and Mrs. John A. Huber entertained with a small luncheon yesterday at Hotel Harding. Covers were laid for eight. Later the hostesses and their guests went to the home of Mrs. Schroeter at 417 East Center street for an afternoon of bridge. Mrs. Frank and Miss Frank are former residents of Marion.

THE Marion Council of Jewish Women entertained with a farewell party last evening at the home of Mrs. Newman Browarsky of 204 Summit street, for the pleasure of Mrs. Jack Emanuel of Mary street who will leave the last of this month to make her home in Columbus.

Mrs. Emanuel was given a handkerchief shower. The evening was spent socially and with cards. Dessert was served at small tables. Guests of the council were Mrs. Sol Wagner of Chicago, sister of Mrs. Browarsky, Mrs. Julia Teitelbaum of Cleveland who is visiting her daughter and son, Mrs. Abe Schoen and Lou J. Teitelbaum, Mrs. T. F. Cogan, Mrs. Hector Abelson, Miss Edith Browarsky and George Emanuel, son of the guest of honor.

Mrs. Sam Brown was hostess to Chi Tau Upsilon Bridge club and one guest, Mrs. Fred Hochstetler, Monday evening at Ringer's Inn on the Prospect pike. A two-course luncheon preceded an evening of auction bridge. Awards for high scores were won by Mrs. Fred Johnson and Mrs. William Coffey, and a floating prize was presented Mrs. Howard Jerew. Miss Margie May will entertain the members in two weeks at her home on Windsor street.

Mrs. William Davis of Owens street entertained a group of children at a party Monday afternoon in Lincoln park to celebrate the sixth birthday anniversary of her daughter, Patty. Following an afternoon of supervised play, the hostess served lunch and presented each guest with a favor. The celebrant received many gifts. Guests were Eddie Worstatt, Dorothy Ann Shepherd Donald, Paul and Helen Spicer, Buddy Smith, Bobby and Billy Lore Joyce and Jack Burke, Eileen Davis, Kenneth Houser and Barbara Jean Cardwell.

Four tables were filled for euchre at a meeting of the Wide Awake club yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Daisy Hallick of 362 South Main street. Miss Helen McIntosh won honors for high score and Mrs. Evelyn Hollandsbend won second honors and the low hand award. Third honors went to Mrs. Clara Sipe. The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. Viola Linger of 317 South Vine street.

Mrs. Ruth Miley of East Center street was hostess to the Mar-Bu-Col last night at her home. Two new members were enrolled, Miss Nova Jones and Miss Dorothy Behrens. Honors in contests were awarded to Miss Helen Berringer and Miss Susie Mae Zieg. Lunch was served by the hostess. The club will meet next with Miss Isabelle Walker of Smeltzer road on July 21.

A meeting of the Loyal Workers class of the First United Brethren Sunday school to have been held Thursday, has been postponed one week because of the death of Miss Lillian Lust. The meeting will be held July 22 at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. C. E. Boncoutter of 360 Pearl street.

Mrs. Clyde Underwood and Miss Shirley Barnhart were co-hostesses for a meeting of Circle No. 3 of the First United Brethren church last evening at their home on Lincoln avenue. During a short business session plans were made for the annual "blossom" party to be held at the community house in August.

Plans were made for a swimming party in August, at a meeting of the Busy Bee class of the Oakland Evangelical Sunday school last night at the home of Miss Elsie Williamson of 865 Bellefontaine avenue. Devotionals were conducted by Miss Bertha Crafty. Games and contests provided entertainment awards going to Misses Ruth Bowen, Mary Barrett and Margaret Paine. The hostess served refreshments assisted by her mother, Mrs. Vesta Williamson.

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Sager of Woodrow avenue were given a surprise housewarming party last evening by members of the Y. M. B. club and their husbands. A basket supper was followed by an evening of pinochle and bridge. Mrs. E. Hoffman won pinochle honors and the bridge award went to Mrs. Scott Gast. Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Paddock of Los Angeles who are visiting Mrs. Clara Morrison of Pearl street, were guests.

Mrs. J. W. Klingel gave an inspirational talk on "Prayer, Material and Labor," using the Lord's Prayer as the theme, at a meeting of the Ladies' Bible class of the First Reformed church last evening with Mrs. William Klehm of Chestnut street. Mrs. Bertha Butler of Dayton, mother of Mrs. J. W. Heistand, and Mrs. Henry Klehm were guests. Arrangements for the annual picnic in August were discussed. In a social hour Mrs. George Queen gave a reading and Mrs. Katherine Goodicks and Mrs. Harry Wires won contest honors. The hostess served lunch, assisted by her daughter Mildred.

VENDORS OF COUNTY MAKE TAX RETURNS

Deadline For Sales Listings Set For Thursday.

With the deadline falling Thursday, sales tax returns from the approximately 2,200 vendors in Marion county for the second quarter of 1937 are coming in well, Carroll Davidson, tax examiner for the county, said today.

Returns are to be made by all vendors who have licenses, regardless of whether they have made any sales since the last report. The returns are being received at the offices of the Marion county commissioners in the courthouse. Davidson and Charles Elicker, also an examiner for the county, today completed a series of visits to nearby villages for collection of the returns.

A figure showing that nearly 2,200 vendors' licenses are in force in the county was given today by Morris Clements, a deputy in the office of County Auditor Harry V. Mounts. He said a total of 3,291 licenses have been issued since June 2, 1935, when the first license was given out. Since that time, approximately 1,100 licenses have been cancelled, leaving a total still in force of about 2,191, Clements said.

TWO CARS COLLIDE NORTH OF NEVADA

Special to The Star

NEVADA, July 14—Ralph Vahoff, 24, of Genoa, O., was taken to the Bucyrus city hospital, suffering from a sever back injury, following a two-car collision at the junction of routes 30-N and 231, two miles north of Nevada, yesterday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock, according to the report of highway patrolmen from the Marion sub-station.

He was a passenger in a car driven north on route 231 by Lester J. Dubrile, 39, of Elmore, O., which collided at the intersection with an automobile driven west on 30-N by John M. Schmidt, 68, of Upper Sandusky. Dubrile suffered hand and face lacerations, while Schmidt escaped injury, patrolmen said.

Damage to each of the automobiles was estimated at $100 by patrolmen. The front end of Schmidt's car was demolished and the right front side of the other car was badly damaged.

FLIERS IN LINE FOR AMELIA'S NO. 1 RANK

LAURA INGALLS, many women fliers will tell you, is "right next to Amelia Earhart" in reputation, although she has not done much flying recently. Laura cut Amelia's east-west transcontinental record by three hours in 1935, while for her spectacular solo flight around South America the international league of aviators named her the outstanding woman flier of 1934.

LOUIS THADEN says she's too much of a sissy to try any spectacular water flights but she has shown plenty of stuff on land. She holds the speed record for women—197.9 miles an hour. She beat a field of men and women in a race from New York to Los Angeles for the Bendix trophy last year. She was awarded the Harmon trophy for being the outstanding woman flier of 1936.

RUTH NICHOLS has had some bad crackups but always has come back for more. In 1931 she set a woman's record in non-stop straight line flying from Oakland airport to Bowman field, Ky. Next year she ascended 21,000 feet to beat Clarence Chamberlin's record, she was hailed as the outstanding woman flier of 1932. Crash injuries have kept her laid up for the last two years.

Personal Mention

Miss Mary Louise Weaver has returned home from California, where she has spent the last two years. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Weaver of 567 Cheney avenue.

TIME ON BALLOT CHANGE EXTENDED

Deadline For Filing Petitions Set For July 20.

Paul D. Smith, Marion attorney and state chairman of a drive for adoption of the Massachusetts ballot in Ohio, today announced the deadline for returning initiative petitions has been extended from July 15 to July 26, news reports from Columbus stated. Mr. Smith has headquarters in the Virginia hotel at Columbus.

Mr. Smith and his committees are seeking to obtain 300,000 names on petitions asking the secretary of state to place the question on the November ballots.

Meanwhile, Columbus news reports stated progress is being made in the drive to obtain 300,000 names for a vote on the question of appointment of Ohio judges. Howard F. Guthery is Marion county chairman of the campaign. Under the proposed constitutional amendment virtually all judges would be appointed instead of elected.

DAVEY MAY SETTLE ADJOURNMENT ISSUE

mittees would be killed under adjournment—one to study the civil service commission, highway and liquor departments and the other to determine whether any law was violated in the asserted use of state employes in distributing handbills setting forth the governor's views of the appropriations fight.

The special session, called principally to pass a budget for the two years ending Dec. 31, 1938, appropriated approximately $100,000,000 but refused to provide any funds for poor relief.

Although the senate passed a bill to give counties and municipalities the right to vote levies outside the 10-mill limitation by a majority instead of a 65 per cent vote for statutory welfare and relief, the rurally-dominated house defeated it 21 to 62.

The senate named an unofficial committee of seven to confer with city and county officials in relief financing in preparation for legislation to be considered this fall.

In addition to the general budget of $94,500,000, an emergency appropriation of $4,500,000 for highway construction was voted.

The senate killed four appropriation measures which had house approval, one an allotment of $250,000 for establishment of out-patient hospitals for treatment of mentally ill, another $160,000 to continue state employment offices, another of $235,000 for 80 more highway patrolmen, and the fourth for $2,500,000 to be added to the present $35,000,000 fund used each year of old age pensions.

Governor Davey's appointment of J. Freer Bittinger of Ashland to be a member of the state industrial commission was blocked by the senate rules committee, leaving Thomas M. Gregory of Cincinnati continuing to serve although his term has expired.

Employment Service To Be Unimpaired

W. T. Doe, director of the Ohio State Employment service, today notified Fred B. Scherff, manager of the Marion office, that the action of the senate in killing the $160,000 appropriation bill for continuing the 19 employment offices in the state will not affect the set-up for the remainder of this year and probably not next year.

The $160,000, Mr. Doe said, was to have been for expenses starting next Jan. 1 when the employment service leaves the department of industrial relations and goes to the newly established Ohio unemployment commission under the new state social security law.

The remainder of 1936 is cared for by previous appropriations. Mr. Doe said the $160,000 will be appropriated in a special session this fall or next January and was tabled only temporarily.

RECIPES COMING IN FOR MENU CONTEST

Pour in to Star Office To Share in Prizes Offered for Best.

Early entries in the third hot weather menu contest being sponsored by a group of Marion merchants and The Star are being received both through the mail and personal delivery, and judging from the interest shown by housewives both in Marion and nearby towns the contest is going to be a banner one both in quantity and quality of recipes.

Just what particular dish do you make that wins the unanimous vote of "tops" by your family. In what do you excel when it comes to putting up a basket for a picnic? What is the piece de resistence in your dinner menu, and what home made soft drink recipe is said by your friends to be the best ever?

The recipe for any or all of these, plus a menu to go with it (with the exception of the cold drink which calls for the recipe only) may win a prize in the contest.

Each entrant may submit menus for one or more of the following classifications: picnic menu; luncheon menu; Sunday supper menu; dinner menu; summer party menu; home made soft drink. A complete recipe for the favorite dish in the menu must accompany it and the entry must bear the full name and address of the contestant. Entries may be mailed or brought to the "Menu Contest Editor" of The Star.

The contest, now open, will close at noon on Saturday, July 24, and the winners will be announced in a special hot weather menu section on Wednesday, July 28.

Cash awards, 17 in all, will be made to winners of the best recipes, by the judges who will be chosen by the contest sponsors.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ernsberger of South Prospect street announce the marriage of their daughter, Edore Jean, to William Evans Jr. of Oak street on Thursday, June 24, at Greenup, Ky. Rev. W. H. Muncy, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Greenup, read the ceremony at his home. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Evans of Oak street and is employed at the Parish dairy.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gompf of Waldo, are announcing the marriage of their daughter Verna Mae to Dwight Lee Beyer of Somerset. The wedding took place Feb. 6, this year, at Decatur, Ind. Rev. H. R. Carson of the First M. E. church read the ceremony, and the attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Linn of Bucyrus. Mrs. Beyer was graduated from the Waldo High school in 1927, and Ohio Northern university in 1931. She is a member of Sigma Kappa Pi. Mr. Beyer graduated from the Somerset High school. The couple will live in Somerset.

Announcement was made today of the marriage of Miss Lena Bachelder of Galion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Bachelder of Denmark, and Nathan O. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Lewis of Galion, which took place Sunday. The double ring service was read by Rev. L. Eugene Rush, pastor of Trinity M. E. church in Mt. Gilead, at his home. The attendants were Mrs. Fern Gensler of Crestline, sister of the bridegroom, and Leland Bachelder of Cardington, brother of the bride.

The bride wore a gown of rose silk crepe with white accessories and her flowers were a shoulder corsage of rosebuds and lilies of the valley, tied with pink and white ribbon. Her attendant wore a flowered silk chiffon dress and a corsage of roses and lilies of the valley.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. The table was centered with a wedding cake decorated with a miniature bride and bridegroom and appointments were in the bride's colors of pink and white.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis will live at 125 South Union street in Galion. Mr. Lewis is employed with the North Electric company and the bride formerly was employed at the Koons restaurant.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Lewis, Carl Lewis, Miss Agnes Milencuff, and Misses Betty and June Lewis of Galion, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gentzler and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. William Lewis and son Bobby of Crestline, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pegler and son Billy of Cleveland, Miss Ruth Ellen Jewell and Dwight Benson of Cardington.

In Ohio History

(From the J. H. Galbraith collection of Ohio histories, written for The Associated Press.)

JOHN BROWN STORY

John Brown, the abolition leader, after marrying bought a farm near Hudson, mortgaging it to secure the major portion of the purchase price.

Finding that he would not be able to make the payments, he acquainted a neighbor with the fact and suggested that he bid in the property when offered for sale by the sheriff. The neighbor, a man named Chamberlain purchased the farm. Then Brown asked to be permitted to remain awhile. When the purchaser sought to gain possession, Brown scorned ejectment proceedings.

Finally Brown was removed from the house by the sheriff. Some of Chamberlain's friends then burned it to the ground.

Birthday Party Held in Honor of Dr. Throckmorton

A BIRTHDAY party at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Ed. Throckmorton of 265 Bellevue avenue last evening was in honor of the seventy-first birthday anniversary of Dr. Throckmorton. Joining the celebrant and hostess for the occasion were their children and grandchildren. A basket dinner was served at 6 o'clock at a table centered with a large decorated birthday cake, the gift of a daughter Mrs. Frank Phillips. The celebrant received a number of remembrances.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Throckmorton and daughters Betty and Mary Lou and son Harry Jr. of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Phillips and children Ellen, Francis and Michael; Mr. and Mrs. Jake Zellers and son Ronald, Mrs. Fred Throckmorton and son Donald, Mr. and Mrs. James Sidenstricker and daughter Rosemary, Miss Josephine Opan and Preeler Throckmorton.

Dr. Throckmorton, a practicing dentist here for more than 40 years, maintains an office at his home.

"...-er-killed? Or had he killed ...someone else?" Beating through her fears for him was the instinct the feeling that she must watch her step and not say something that would incriminate him.

"Where—where did you find it?" She stalled for time by meeting the sheriff's questions with another.

"Never mind that now." Zeke Farley spoke more gently, as he saw Kay's distress but his eyes were none the less keen. "Just you tell us everything you know about it."

Realizing that all she could do was to tell the truth, Kay explained how she had given the gun to Ted Gaynor and had last seen it when he started off for Clear Water Basin to get his mother and sister and bring them back.

"How did the gun come into your hands?" Kay ended forcing herself to face the facts whatever they might be.

The sheriff hesitated and gave an imperceptible nod to Seth over Kay's head.

"Don't you worry about that," he evaded soothingly. "I'll talk to Seth outside."

"No you won't!" Kay interposed, her eyes flashing, and her body straight and taut with determination. "You've got to tell me anything you have to say about it! I won't be kept in suspense."

Found: A Dead Man

The sheriff shrugged. "Well, I reckon you've got to hear about it, sooner or later, so there's no point in making a mystery about it. Also, I want to know all you can tell me about this Gaynor guy—where you met him and how long you've known him, and so forth."

But how did you come by the gun?" Kay insisted. "You must tell me that first!"

The sheriff took the gun back from Seth and gravely weighed it in his hand as he eyed it critically.

"There ain't much doubt," he said slowly, "but what this gun has killed a man."

Kay put her hand up to her throat. "Ye—yes—go on!"

"One of the fire patrol was coming back over the divide, yesterday and by the head waters there he found a dead man shot through the temple. And not 30 feet away he came on this gun lying where the murderer had left it."

The dead man was a mile or so over on the Idaho side of the state line, but this gun was headed this way so he brought the gun down to me. I called up the sheriff at Clear Water Basin but he was off after a bunch of rustlers, and his deputy, asked me to help out on the job until he could join me."

"Who was the man?" Kay got the question out through parched lips.

"A fellow named Scrap Johnson, who was one of the Flying Six outfit. He—"

He got no further, for Kay, with a cry of mingled relief and dismay, suddenly sank down on the chair near her.

Kay questions the sheriff about Ted, tomorrow.

Marriage Meddlers

BY ADELE GARRISON

Gay Party Sets Out in Two Cars for Evening of Fun.

"I THINK you're awful, Uncle Dicky," Carolyn pouted, "to call me such horrid names 'Representative of an effete and decadent generation' forsooth. There's only one thing worse you could possibly call me."

"And that is?" Dicky inquired with a solemn air.

"A Victorian prude," Carolyn said laughing slyly, and Dicky raised both hands high in the air.

"Take my purse, young lady," he said, "only, if you please, return me a nickel for carfare I'm licked before I start. But, nevertheless and notwithstanding, the older quartet of this evening's outing is going to have the final say about the place. You kids may choose any place you fancy, and if we approve, in you go. If we don't, you stay out. I hope I make myself understood."

I studied the four youthful faces furtively. Bill and Marion were the natural expressions of young people eager for an outing of any kind. But the eyes of Hank and Carolyn were distinctly rebellious, although both of them were too well trained to make any demur to Dicky's dictum.

Indeed, their voices were as clear as those of Marion and Bill as they all chorused, "Sure" in answer to Dicky's somewhat unnecessary question.

"You are most explicit," Marion added slyly, and Dicky's eyes twinkled as he said "You bet!" Then he turned to me.

"Well, are we all set?" he asked.

"We ought to be," I told him demurely.

Take Two Cars

"Touche!" he retorted. "All right, come along, Bill, you drive my car, and take the younger generation with you. We oldsters will follow you in the big car. Then if any thing happens to you, we can pick up the fragments and tote them homeward. Don't get too far in front of us, wait at the turns so we won't lose you, and when you see a place that looks good to you, stop in front of it and wait for us to give the okay or the kibosh. Do I make myself clear?"

"Perfectly," they chorused, and then there was a general rustle for wraps. After the short walk through the fragrant woods from the point cabin to the garage, we climbed into the cars and started for the evening's outing.

"Nice kid, Bill," Harry Underwood commented as Dicky's car, with Bill driving drew away with the girls waving their hands to us. "So is Hank." I said with quick loyalty to the brother of the two brothers.

My husband laughed indulgently.

Madge has my young nephew eating out of her hand," he said with a touch of pride investing his voice, and she won't hear an implication against either of them. Hank makes her more trouble in a week than Bill does in a year, but I sometimes think she likes him the better of the two.

"I do not!" I said indignantly. "You know I'm very fond of both Bill and Hank, 'just exactly the same' as Junior used to say. It's only that Hank needs me more."

"The maternal motif," Harry Underwood said with suspicious gravity, and then yelped as a wifely hand nipped his arm.

"Behave yourself," she admonished and for several miles he obeyed her wifely admonition.

"They're taking their time in finding a place," Dicky growled at the end of the tenth mile when we had seen no sign of the car ahead.

"There they are now," I exclaimed.

KENTON CAR BURNS

KENTON, July 14—The automobile of Dewey Gray, Kenton laborer was destroyed by fire along the Harding Highway west of Kenton yesterday. He and a son and a hitch hiker whom he had picked up a short time before escaped injury. However, the hitch-hiker lost most of his clothing. Fire started from a leaky gasoline line and spread rapidly, witnesses said.

CLAIMS OF $102 FILED FOR SHEEP

Claims totaling $102 for slain sheep and $34 for injuries to eight ewes and two lambs were filed with Elmer Ullom, county dog warden in the week ended Saturday, according to a report filed yesterday afternoon with the board of county commissioners.

The claims were filed by Karl Beckel of near Waldo, who seeks $90 for 10 slain ewes; $12 for two slain lambs, $32 for injuries to eight ewes and $6 for injuries to two lambs. Ullom also reported seizing seven dogs in the week, four of them males.

AUTOMATIC PHONES READY AUGUST 1

Special to The Star

KENTON, O., July 14—The new automatic telephone system will be in operation here about Aug. 1, according to the latest estimate of telephone company officials. Several delays in receiving material and demand of patrons for location changes of phones have slowed up the work. Telephones for installation in downtown business places arrived this week after a three weeks' delay. Residence phones were installed previously.

CRESTLINE CHURCH BASEMENT FLOODED

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE, July 14—Women of the Calvary Reformed church were busy Tuesday cleaning the basement of the church which had about two feet of water in following the storm. Dishes and silverware were under water. Water was over the chair seats and the piano was damaged.

WHY SUFFER WITH CONSTIPATION
HERE'S EASY TASTY RELIEF

Faulty Elimination Quickly Aided by Regular Three-Times-Daily Use of Amazing New Honey Krushed Wheat Bread.

It is surprising how quickly sufferers from bowel troubles are benefitted by the regular eating of Honey Krushed Wheat Bread, and there is a practical reason for this. Bread is invigorating. Sufferers from constipation often have had to resort to various kinds of purgatives. But a simple remedy for this common complaint has been created in Honey Krushed Wheat Bread! From a leading college professor comes this secret combination with its appetizing taste-appeal. Because of its combined whole wheat and honey flavors, it tastes good even when the zest for eating is lacking due to poisonous wastes that clog the intestines. Honey Krushed Wheat Bread used regularly three times a day, stimulates the flow of gastric juices and clears up the system.

Make This Ten-Day Test

This daily addition to your menu for a period of ten days will thoroughly convince you of the beneficial qualities of Honey Krushed Wheat Bread. Not only is the wholesome quality of a better flour included, but ingredients of real corrective value also. Unquestionable purity of materials should go into your family's food. Honey Krushed Wheat Bread contains the whole wheat kernel and pure honey that stimulates the digestive organs to renewed activity.

Beware of Imitations

Both as to name and product, Honey Krushed Wheat Bread (note the spelling K-r-u-s-h-e-d) is the registered name, and the only name authorized for bread made under the original, scientific formula and process developed for our use. Your grocer has it; if not, call another. Easily distinguishable, wrapped and already sliced. Just try it and see how your digestion improves.

INCREASED MAJOR CROP HARVESTS SEEN IN OHIO

Planted In Wheat, Corn Will Boost Production

Depends Weather, Expert Statistician Reports.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 14.—Increases in corn, wheat and other crops in Ohio promise greater production this year, despite recent rains and storms, federal crop statistics said today.

Irish potato and sugar beet crops are expected to be larger. Ray said apples, pears, grapes, and cherries gave promise on July 1 of crops greatly exceeding the light fruit production of last year.

The harvest of corn, with 3,695,000 acres under cultivation, 6 per cent more than 1936, is expected to produce 140,616,000 bushels, 19,000,000 more than a year ago.

Winter wheat was planted in 2,420,000 acres, 12 per cent more than in 1936, and the production forecast was for 48,794,000 bushels. Last year 40,126,000 bushels were produced.

All Crops Up.

Other crop conditions:

Spring wheat—9,000 acres of spring wheat give promise of 171,000 bushels compared with 8,000 acres and 152,000 bushels in 1936.

Rye—With but 42,000 acres for harvest as compared with 52,000 acres in 1936, the crop promises 609,000 bushels against 702,000 last year.

Oats—The oats acreage for Ohio is placed at 1,234,000 acres, or 2 per cent more than in 1936. Planting was delayed by rains but the crop, on the whole, has made quite satisfactory progress. Production is indicated to be 44,424,000 bushels against 40,555,000 bushels in 1936.

Barley—The barley acreage in Ohio has been relatively small the past few years. As compared with 20,000 acres in 1936 the acreage for the current year is placed at 56,000 with most of the increase occurring in southwestern Ohio. The forecast is for 928,000 bushels this year. Last year it was 520,000 bushels.

Soybeans—The acreage of soybeans is placed at 350,000 acres, or an increase of 25 per cent over 1936. No forecast of soybean production for grain or hay is made until later in the season.

Potatoes—The Ohio potato acreage this season is estimated to be 129,000 acres, or 1 per cent decrease from 1936. Early potatoes generally made a good start, June rains caused some of the seed of the late crop to rot in the ground. Production is forecast at 12,250,000 bushels against 14,040,000 bushels last year.

Tame Hay Acres Down.

Tame hay—The 2,050,000 acres of tame hay this year show a decrease of 5 per cent from the harvested acreage of 1936. Due to favorable growing conditions, however, production is forecast at 3,382,000 tons compared with 3,715,000 tons in 1936.

Pasture—The condition of pastures in Ohio has improved rapidly since May 1. On that date they averaged 77 per cent of normal, on June 1 the average was 85 per cent and on July 1 it was placed at 92 per cent. On July 1, 1936 the average was but 83 per cent.

Fruit crops—Weather and growing conditions on the whole have been quite favorable for fruit crops this season. The July 1 forecast, with 1936 production figures in parentheses, are as follows: apples 10,787,000 bushels (5,039,000); peaches 1,476,000 bushels (164,000); pears 930,000 bushels (354,000); grapes 25,700 tons (26,000), and cherries 5,100 tons (1,350).

Milk—Milk produced per milk cow in herds kept by Ohio crop reporters averaged 19.0 pounds on July 1, 1937. The average one year ago was 18.3 pounds, two years ago it was 18.5 pounds.

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Worry Over Health.

RECENTLY I was asked a most unusual question. The writer wanted to know whether there is any relationship between a "hypochondriac" and an insane person. Someone had erroneously advised him that a hypochrondriac is one who is a sufferer from what is really a genuine mental disease.

Of course, the answer to this question is, definitely, "No."

Let me explain to you exactly what a hypochondriac is, so you may understand why I speak so emphatically. A hypochondriac is a person who is morbidly anxious about his health. Because of his fear, he is more or less depressed in mind.

The condition is given a big name, "hypochondriasis," because the hypochondrium, the term applied to the abdomen and especially the region of the spleen, was supposed by the ancients to be the seat of this disorder. The unfortunate name makes it seem to be something terrible. Really it is a mild nervous affliction.

It may be the result of a nervous breakdown, or it may follow a serious illness, but it is not a sign of or associated with insanity. It is true that some families are great worriers, and they appear to be prone to hypochondriasis, as well as other nervous disorders.

As a rule, those who suffer in this way were overly sensitive, restless and nervous during childhood. I stress this because, in most instances where the importance of "nervousness" is recognized in early life, much can be done to overcome the condition. To do so in childhood prevents a lot of trouble in adult life.

It is well for the victim of hypochondriasis to consult a competent physician. He should have a thorough examination, including X-ray and other laboratory checkups. Every doubtful symptom should be thoroughly investigated. Only after a clean bill of health has been given can a permanent cure be expected.

Such disorders as anemia, constipation, indigestion, colitis, insomnia and other annoying complaints must not be neglected. Adequate hours of rest and relaxation are important. The use of stimulating drugs and especially alcohol and tobacco must be avoided. The diet should be simple and nutritious. Every effort must be made to get away from the indoor life with lack of fresh air and outdoor recreation.

2 COUNTIES SHARE DRAFT HORSE CROWN

Delaware and Wyandot Leaders in State.

With Ohio recognized as a leading state in the production of purebred draft horses, Delaware and Wyandot counties were signally honored recently by D. J. Kaye, specialist in animal husbandry at Ohio State university, who called them "pace setters for the state."

Delaware excelled in Percherons last year at the International Livestock show at Chicago where George A. Dix and O. H. Pollock shared six first places and two second places. Dix won first on produce of mare and second on get of sire; while Pollock reversed this by winning first on get of sire and second on produce of dam.

Of 29 Ohio Belgian horses at Chicago last year, a senior stallion owned by Charles A. Wentz of Upper Sandusky took the purple ribbon. Mr. Wentz also won a first place on animals in colt classes.

TO FILM STORY OF ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Freedom of Press" Title of Movie To Go into Production in Hollywood.

By The Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, July 14.—"Freedom of the Press," a film depicting the history of The Associated Press and the part it has played in the development of the free American press, will go into production immediately, it was announced by David O. Selznick, president of the Selznick International Pictures, Inc.

"The story of The Associated Press has been the procession of world history, the birth and deaths of kings, the fury of wars, the lightning strike of catastrophes, historic political battles, and of unsung heroes who got the story, no matter what the cost," Selznick said.

"It is a story yet to be told, which under the title, 'Freedom of the Press,' soon is to take living form on the screen."

Producer Selznick said the picture will describe The Associated Press at its beginning in 1848. It will show the growth of the non-profit cooperative association into the world's largest news-gathering organization.

"The picture will present a truthful outline of the nature of The Associated Press and its firm development of the principle of unbiased news," Selznick said.

Hitherto unpublished records to authenticate the production will be made available by The Associated Press, of which approximately 1,400 newspapers in this country alone are members.

The Associated Press is a newsgathering and distributing organization, mutually owned by its member newspapers, and motivated by one purpose only—to provide swift, accurate and fair news reports the world over. This task involves daily effort, directly or indirectly, of 50,000 individuals throughout the world.

The production plans to depict The Associated Press' unending struggle to annihilate time and space from the days of the first feeble Morse telegraph when newspaper ingenuity drafted carrier pigeons, fast horses and clipper ships to speed news.

This is a saga of triumph over terrific obstacles, for today there is no habitable spot on earth more than a few minutes from the nation's front page whenever news breaks.

Newspapers the world over are members of The Associated Press and the spread of its humming wires feeds thousands of presses 240 words a minute.

In step with progress the AP Wirephoto now sends pictures over wires with the same speed as news, marking a tremendous forward stride in the work of reporting "things as they are."

Selznick said the date of release of the film will be announced soon.

Someone Wants . . . What You Want To Sell or Rent

It's queer, but it's true, that for every woman who has for rent a nice five-room bungalow in Marion there's usually another woman who would take such a bungalow in a minute if she knew who had one for rent.

For every woman who would like to sell a good used bedroom suite, there's another woman who is looking to buy one.

For every woman who is frantically searching for her little boy's lost dog, there's another woman who is praying that she may find—soon—the owner of the rambunctious puppy who has invaded her home.

"If I only knew of some one who could use it!" sighs the woman who has no further use for a typewriter. "If I only knew of some one who has a good typewriter for sale!" says a girl who has a real need for one. There is one quick, sure way to reach the Unknown Woman who would rent your bungalow or buy your used furniture. You may not know her name—or her street address—or her telephone number. GEYGAN CLOUTS WAY TO FOURTH PLACE IN LOOP

Manager Chappie Geygan although his hitting percentage has dropped from the July 1 mark of .437 which led all of organized baseball is still clouting the ball for .330 to top all of the members of Marion's Ohio State league team and hold a fourth place tie in the circuit.

Geygan went into a slight batting slump after his team was transferred from Sandusky to Marion in June but in the past six games he has stepped back into form by smacking the apple for eight hits in 16 trips or an even .500 average. The league leading hitter according to averages published in the Mansfield News-Journal earlier this week is Petras Fort Wayne outfielder who has a .408 average.

He record includes only games up to last Tuesday. In second spot is Barrett, Sox rightfielder who has a .396 average, while Sparr of Findlay holds third position with a record of .382. Marion sluggers following Geygan in order of their batting averages are: Kauffman of .336; Sweet .319; Patek .314; Hruby .311; .263; Mulvihill .[illegible]; Lancaster .243.

Marion according to the records quoted stands in second place in team fielding which is led by the Findlay Browns. The Geygarites are in third place in team batting behind the Mansfield Red Sox and Tiffin Mud Hens. Marion's team fielding record is .960 just six points behind the team with the best record Findlay. In team batting the Marion club has a .268 record while Mansfield has .239 and Tiffin .240. Mansfield leads the loop in team fielding with Marion's Colts in fifth place having a .947 average.

Gerald Ott Mann who received his first mound defeat last Saturday is still Marion's leading hurler with a record of seven wins and one defeat and of nine games pitched to his credit. In the five complete victories he fanned 41 batters and issued but 11 passes to first. Jeff Spencer has turned in eight victories without three defeats while Johnny Erich has a record of seven wins and two losses. Gene Morris also has been hurling in tough luck during the past six weeks while he unknowingly pitched with two title holders to dole three wins and five losses.

Mansfield's Schoolboy pitcher has the best record of the league hurlers having nine victories to his credit without a single defeat. Most feared Johnny Barrett Red Sox rightfielder in record in batting has scored more runs than any other league player a total of 44. He has hit for the most total bases 102 leads the stolen base list with 22 and is setting the home run pace with eight to his credit. With the exception of Bill Sparr of Findlay Carter has accumulated more hits than any other performer in the circuit both having scored 90.

GALEHOUSE BACKED BY SNAPPY PLAYS; FELLER DUE SUNDAY

Reds Defeated by Syracuse, 4-2, Meet Brooklyn Dodgers Today.

By BILL BONI
Associated Press Writer

The calmest man in Flatbush when Henry Emmett Manush was let off the National league all star team was Henry Emmett Manush.

Brooklyn fans thought Henry Emmett (Heinie to you) a National league rookie after 16 seasons in the junior circuit richly deserved a place on the honor squad. At 35—he'll be 36 next Tuesday—Heinie might not be quite as fast as in 1926 when he won the American league batting championship but at least he was pounding the ball and that's all any Brooklyn fan will ask of an outfielder.

But Heinie just went on about his business business such as the ninth inning home run yesterday that broke up a sweet mound duel between Max Butcher the five hit pitching winner and Frank (Gabby) Gabler the six hit pitching loser.

It gave the Dodgers a 2-1 decision over the Reds and pulled them to within a half game of the fifth place Bostonians.

Yesterday's was only Heinie's fourth home run yet with 38 runs batted in he leads his nearest team mate Cookie Lavagetto by six. He is tied at .333 in the batting averages with Joe Moore the Giants thin man who after his five for six yesterday against the Phillies is top slugger among the second place Terrymen.

Moore climbing up to join Manush at the .333 notch was the big gun in a 20 hit giant attack that required ten innings to nose out the Phils 11-10. The last of Jo Jo's five singles drove home the winning run and sent the Giants back to a two game stand only a half game behind the Cubs.

His team's hitting especially in the ninth when seven safeties six in succession accounted six runs to tie the score was a pleasing sight to Terry. But only Cliff Melton's one hit relief pitching for his sixth successive triumph and ninth of the year saved the afternoon from being a total loss from a hurling standpoint.

Terry started Al Smith Smitty gave up five hits and three runs in two innings. Dick Coffman who pitched the third and fourth was nicked for five hits and six runs. Then young Tom Baker scattered five hits and allowed only one run before being lifted for a pinch hitter.

In the only game in the American league the Indians backed up Dennis Galehouse's 7 hit pitching with some snappy fielding to edge out the White Sox 2-1.

The Cards and Pirates only other National league games scheduled were rained out. The Cards come east today minus one member of their starting pitching staff. Jim Winford who was left in a Pittsburgh hospital after an emergency appendectomy.

Manager Steve O'Neill planned to send Pitcher Willis Hudlin to the mound against the Washington Senators today giving the veteran right hander a chance for his ninth victory of the season as the Indians prepared to repel the third invasion of League Park by eastern teams of the American league.

Carl Fisher a thorn in the side of the Tribe since he was released by Cleveland early in the season was expected to start on the hill for the Senators.

An announcement by the Cleveland front office that Bob Feller would start Sunday's game at the stadium against the New York Yankees made it appear today that the club is ready to carry out an early season plan of using the young strikeout artist as a Sunday pitcher.

At Brooklyn to open a three game series with the Dodgers the Cincinnati Reds faced the prospect today of going without the services of their big right handed pitcher Paul Derringer for at least a part of their third eastern invasion.

The Kentuckian was to consult a physician about an abdominal condition. He had been chosen to oppose pitcher Luke Hamlin today.

At Syracuse where the Reds stopped for a flood light contest the Cincinnatians were turned back by the errorless International league chiefs and the eight strike out pitching of six foot six inch John Gee 4 to 2.

Dog-House Days Are Here

THOSE well known Doghouse Blues are afflicting a few of the big league pilots these dog days.

These managers with the shadow of the old axe hanging over their tender necks are frantically striving to pull the fat out of the fire by injecting new life into their drab teams. A good finish can save the day for any and all of 'em so the last half of the season is all important for the harassed leaders.

Steve O'Neill head big chief of the Indians leads the unhappy parade. It isn't Steve's fault that the Cleveland team got off to such a sorry start. Injuries and unforeseen ailments crippled the Indians. Feller and Allen counted on as their hurling aces have been on the shelf most of the season.

Nevertheless the Injuns were touted as pennant winners in the Forest City so somebody is going to be scalped unless they perk up.

Chuck Dressen hailed as a miracle manager in previous seasons is another pilot who has built up to a terrific let down. Cincinnati looked so bad in the first few weeks of the season that the old cry, Vote der Reds out mit der Reds began to echo through the stands in Rhineland.

Rogers Hornsby of the brow beaten Browns and Jimmy Wilson leader of the Phillie Phils are two other managers who may run not walk to the nearest exit after the close of the current campaign.

STATE LEAGUE SIDELIGHTS

The Old Enemy

Considerable wonder has been spoken among fans and players here last Wednesday afternoon when Manager Grover Hartley pinch hitting with two down in the ninth rubbed a double play ball to Heath Mansfield first baseman. Heath had retired two men in order when Hartley went to bat, slipped the first ball pitched for a single back of third baseman Heath's chances for a record that every pitcher some day hopes to turn in.

Some fans criticized Hartley but his reply sums up the affair and the critics have no comeback. It was Tim playing for Hartley not the Mansfield.

RED BIRDS DEFEAT LOUISVILLE, CLIMB BACK TO NO. 1 SPOT

Columbus Wins 20 of Last 24 Games, Millers Lose Hold on Second

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO July 14—The Columbus Red Birds appears of 20 of their last 24 games were back on top today in one of the dizziest of American association leadership struggles.

Bill McGee came up with another fine pitching job last night to help the Birds whip Louisville 6 to 1 in the first game of a scheduled doubleheader. McGee yielded eight hits one more than Columbus collected off the combined efforts of Jack Tising and Fred Shaffer.

The second game was postponed because of rain and the Red Bird victory combined with a 4 to 0 triumph by Milwaukee over Minneapolis of Columbus in undisputed possession of first place. The Millers who went into the tie tied with Columbus for the lead slipped down a third Toledo moving into the second spot by trimming Indianapolis 9 to 0.

Pitching was the feature of the Milwaukee and Toledo triumphs. Forest Powell stopped the Millers array of sluggers with four hits while the Brewers caught up with Charlie Wagner for all their runs in the eighth after two men had been retired.

Al Cohen allowed only six hits as Toledo downed Indianapolis. The Hoosiers gave only two walks and struck out two. Irving Burns slugged out two triples a double and a single to lead the Mud Hen attack.

St Paul climbed out of the league cellar moving past Louisville into seventh place by taking both games of a night doubleheader from Kansas City. The Saints came from behind in the first contest scoring a run in each of the last three innings for a 4 to 2 decision and belted out an 11 to 0 decision in the second affair which was halted to seven innings.

SNATCHES OF SPORTS

By EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK July 14—Don't let anyone kid you into betting there will be a Max Schmeling-Joe Louis heavyweight title match this year.

Possibility is remote even if Max changes his mind and comes down to earth in his financial demands. Here's why. Before Louis and Tommy Farr were signed for the Yankee Stadium August 26 Joe had booked Louis into London against either Len Harvey or Jack Doyle. Jacobs sent his personal attorney Sol Strauss to England to square things with Arthur Elvin Wimbledon stadium promoter.

Elvin was a good sport. He stepped gracefully aside saying he wouldn't think of standing in the way of another British boxer (Farr) getting a shot at the title.

In return for this sportsmanship Jacobs guaranteed Louis would go to London in September to fight either Harvey or Doyle under the Elvin banner. So Herr Schmeling must wait until next year all because he was too arrogant to bother to reply to cables and letters. How does it feel back there behind the eight ball mister?

Collapse of Hal Schumacher's arm reveals that Doc Scanlon old big league pitcher now a Brooklyn physician predicted Schumacher's career would be short because of his unorthodox delivery. If Hugh Bradley of the New York Post has the right dope Ducky Pond will be going out at Yale soon in favor of Larry Kelley. Bradley says this is the reason Kelley turned down all those flattering pro offers. Jimmy Braddock told a Brooklyn sports carnival he'd be ready for another fight in September and hopes it will be against Max Baer again.

Rumor has it next year's National league contracts will contain a clause making it mandatory for players selected to appear in the all star game. Suspicion is some of the boys have been giving the game the old duckaroo. Maybe the Giants are going to buy a couple of badly needed pitchers.

Inclement weather which yesterday resulted in the cancellation of all scheduled Ohio State league baseball games played a havoc on Marion's mound staff which by the postponements received an extra day of rest before swinging into the week's competition.

Today Manager Chappie Geygan and his cohorts were in readiness for this afternoon's battle with Lincoln park as the Fremont Pirates. The game had been set for 5:30 o'clock but following an early morning storm fans were optimistic that the skies would clear up enough to permit the game to be played. In the event the day's game is rained out, Geygan's will not be added to their home list until July 23 when the Mansfield Red Sox are back to return here.

After today's game with Fremont Marion is scheduled to play Mansfield twice this week Thursday and Saturday afternoons at Mansfield. Fremont's home park Friday afternoon. The week will wind up with a doubleheader at Fostoria Sunday the first game being set for 1:30 o'clock.

Daily Pattern for Home Use

BY ANNE ADAMS

FROCK COMBINES SLENDERNESS AND CHARM

There's such a clever combination of charm and youthful dignity in this slim-o'-line frock — that you'll find it a real necessity for your "at home" wardrobe! Topping the bodice are a trim yoke, and flared sleeves, while a flattering panel contributes a world of fullness. And don't you like the dainty feminine note that's added by the narrow, crisp frill? Beginner and experienced seamstress alike will find it easy fun to make up Pattern 4384, for this model boasts but few, simple pattern pieces. Ideal in synthetic Pattern 4384 is available in misses' and women's sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 takes 5¾ yards 36 inch fabric and ¼ yard ruffling. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

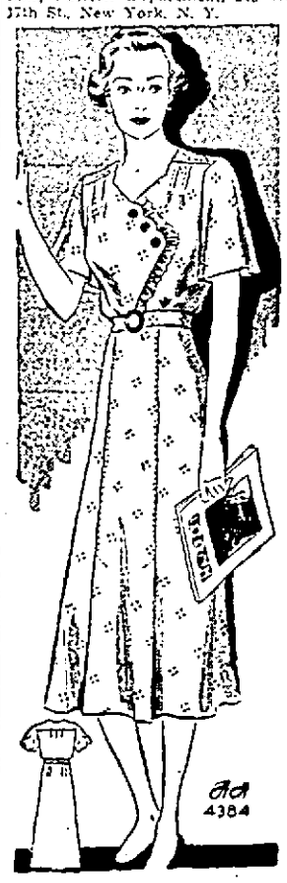
Send Fifteen Cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

Summer chic — yours! Send for our new Anne Adams Pattern Book and see how easily you can stitch up the newest, smartest outfits from the easiest patterns ever seen! No matter how inexperienced at sewing, you will want to make these lovely afternoon frocks, party styles, morning models! Variety and flattery for growing-up and grown-up! Book Fifteen cents.

Pattern Fifteen cents. Twenty-Five cents for both when ordered together.

Send your order to The Marion Star, Pattern Department, 243 W. 17th St., New York, N. Y.



PATTERN 4384

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, July 15.

CONFLICTING, ALTHOUGH not entirely adverse conditions, dominate on this day, judging by the mutual and lunar aspects holding sway. While affairs will be handled with fine impetus and initiative manifested, yet there are signs of hazardous dealings in connection with finances and possessions, with dangers or losses through finances, loans or investments.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a very lively year, with much enterprise, although they may find themselves beset by difficulties and uncertainties in employment and in connection with finances and property. Loans, investments and mortgages may call for sound management, but new contracts and agreements are due to flourish.

A child born on this day may have very energetic and expansive talents, with a productive capacity and ambitions which should lift it to high place and prestige in both public and private affairs. It may have large and flourishing ways, with tendencies toward display.

BRITISH SHIP CAUGHT IN SPANISH HARBOR

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 14 — Alfred Duff Cooper, first lord of the admiralty, announced to the house of commons that a British ship was captured today while attempting to enter the Spanish government port of Santander, current objective of the Spanish insurgent army's northern campaign.

Duff Cooper declined to give details or to name the ship.

He was replying to opposition questions concerning the government's advisory warning to British merchantmen not to enter Santander because of the danger of capture.

STEEL LEADS STOCK UPTURN

U. S. Steel Heads Parade With 2-Point Gain; Bonds Uneven.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 14 — Steels thrust upward in the stock market today carrying the balance of the list fractions to a point or more higher.

Active at the start, the pace slowed near the fourth hour, but the leaders held most of their gains, despite light profit realizing.

Grains tilted backward and cotton was a little lower. Bonds were uneven.

U. S. steel led the parade with a rise of more than 2 points. Others active on the upside most of the day were Bethlehem, Republic, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, American Telephone, Western Union, Westinghouse, and General Electric.

Death of Senator Robinson of Arkansas was accepted as of prime importance and was widely discussed, especially as to its possible effect on the fate of the supreme court bill. There was considerable speculation, too, as to the successor to the majority leadership.

Activity among the carriers was restricted by new reports of rust damage in the spring wheat areas pending wage adjustments and a desire to study in more detail net earnings statements.

Followers of the ticker tape had a variety of news to discuss.

A more than seasonal drop in electric power production for the week ended July 10, as reported by the Edison Electric Institute was ascribed to curtailed operations in the steel industry and some shut downs in the textile field.

The steel picture, however, was more heartening, with "Iron Age" predicting the current pace of operations would continue through August, with perhaps some acceleration before the end of the week. Heavy backlogs were reported in tin plate, sheets and heavy plate.

Wool Market

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, July 14 — (U. S. Dept. Agr.) — Scattered sales of small volume were closed on the wool market at steady prices today. Fine Delaine Ohio fleeces sold at prices in the range of 40-42 cents in the grease, while clothing lengths of similar fineness brought 30-32 cents. Western grown wools were quiet but quotations fairly firm on sizeable lots.

REPORTS OF RUST SENDS WHEAT HIGHER

However, Absence of Export Buying Is Handicap to Upward Swing.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 14 — Higher prices on wheat formed the rule late today as well as early.

Crop reports stressed damage being done by black rust in spring wheat areas both of the United States and of Canada. A handicap, however, to friends of higher prices was apparent absence of any export buying today either of United States or Canadian wheat.

At the close, wheat was unchanged to 1⅛ cents higher compared with yesterday's finish, July 1.26¾@1.26⅞, Sept. 1.27⅛@⅜, corn ⅛@1⅛ down, Sept. 81⅜@⅝, Dec. 81½@⅝, and oats ⅜ off to ⅛ up.

"HONEY" JONES IS FOUND DEAD

Marion's Free Lance Musician and Dancer Passes Away Suddenly.

William Alfred "Honey" Jones about 50, a colored musician widely known about the city, was found dead yesterday about 4:30 p. m. at the home of a friend, George Hill who lives on Fairground road east of the city limits.

Jones, known to many in Marion only by his nickname of "Honey," strolled the streets with his guitar, strumming tunes, sometimes adding a song and often including a tap dance with his entertainment.

Years ago he entertained in the saloons of the city, and under prohibition and the present repeal laws, he was a frequent entertainer in grill rooms, cafes and smaller eating places. He was known in virtually every section of the city.

His friends knew little of his comings and goings, but about two weeks ago when they saw him his face was swathed in bandages and he volunteered only that he had been in an automobile accident in Lima. Of late he had been staying at the Hill home and yesterday when Mr. Hill, a WPA laborer returned home he found him dead on the floor of the front room.

Yesterday morning about 10 "Honey" went to the office of a physician, who, upon examining him, said he was suffering from a severe case of peritonitis, probably from a ruptured appendix, but perhaps a result of some internal injury suffered in the accident.

Jones left the office and later was seen walking in the north section of Marion accompanied by a small boy. He was bent over and seemed to be suffering intense pain. Neighbors near the Hill home said they saw him go to the outside pump about 3:30 p. m. and get himself a cup of water. About an hour later he was found dead.

Coroner M. F. Axtheim said this morning no official report would be necessary, since Jones had seen a physician earlier in the day and his illness had been diagnosed. County officials made an investigation to determine that "Honey" had not been the victim of foul play.

Jones is survived by a sister, Miss Grace Jones of Urbana.

The funeral will be conducted Thursday at 2 p. m. at the W. C. Boyd funeral home on West Columbia street by Rev. J. H. Canada of the Mt. Zion Baptist church. Burial will be made in the Marion cemetery. The body is at the funeral home.

BELLEVUE FLOOD WORK HELD BACK

Water Two Feet in Streets, Halting Workers in Repairing Original Damage.

By The Associated Press

BELLEVUE, O, July 14—Heavy rains of the past two days had seriously retarded today this city's efforts to clean up after a flood of two weeks ago, and threatened a new flood.

Workers manning pumps in an effort to drain water from streets inundated since June 28, saw their work set back several days by the latest downpour which, city officials said, caused the water to rise in some streets as much as two feet.

Thompson ditch, whose overflow behind a Nickel Plate railroad embankment started the original flood, was again out of its banks today.

Although pumps were draining 200,000 gallons of water an hour out of the flooded areas of the city, they did little more in the last two days than take out the rain-added waters. Little progress was made toward reducing the original flood waters.

Officials reported that more 1,000 acres of rural land near Bellevue were still inundated and would require at least two months of natural drainage.

Bellevue flood sufferers were heartened by a promise of outside aid, the Ohio house of representatives yesterday have passed an appropriation of $50,000 for flood relief in the area.

Other Ohio cities today had their flood clean-up problems, and were in a position to sympathize with Bellevue.

NORMAN THOMAS IN OHIO STRIKE AREA

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., July 14—Norman Thomas, Socialist party leader, visited steel strike picket lines in Canton and the CIO headquarters near which a fatal clash between Massillon police and strikers occurred Sunday night.

After looking at the Massillon CIO building Thomas observed:

"This is the worst piece of vandalistic destruction without motive that I have ever seen."

In some respects, Thomas said, the Massillon fighting was worse than the Memorial day riot in Chicago fatal to 10 persons.

Thomas said he would forward a report of his observations to the La Follette Civil Liberties committee.
